

VIA HAND DELIVERY

January 20, 2014

Judge Daniel Noonan
Milwaukee County Courthouse
901 N. Ninth Street
Milwaukee, WI 53233

Re: State of Wisconsin ex rel., Joseph A. Rice v. Marina Dimitrijevic, Willie Johnson Jr., David Cullen, and Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors
Case No. 13-CV-4222

Dear Judge Noonan:

Enclosed for filing please find the original and one copy of our Notice of Motion and Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings and Brief in support of same. At your earliest convenience, please file the originals and return the file stamped copies to our awaiting messenger. By copy of this correspondence, I certify that counsel of record has received copies via electronic mail and first class mail.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact our office. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Very truly yours,

PHILLIPS BOROWSKI, S.C.

Jacob J. Curtis
jjc@phillipsborowski.com

Enclosures

cc. Thomas C. Kamenick (w/enclosures) via electronic mail and first class mail

STATE OF WISCONSIN

CIRCUIT COURT
Branch 31

MILWAUKEE COUNTY

STATE OF WISCONSIN ex rel.
JOSEPH A. RICE,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 13-CV-4222

Case Code 30703

MARINA DIMITRIJEVIC, WILLIE JOHNSON JR.,
DAVID CULLEN, AND MILWAUKEE
COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,

Defendants.

DEFENDANTS' NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS

TO: COUNSEL OF RECORD

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 802.06(3), Defendants, Marina Dimitrijevic, Willie Johnson Jr., David Cullen, and the Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors, by their attorneys, Phillips Borowski, S.C., respectfully request that the Court grant this Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings in the above-captioned matter. The grounds for the Motion are set forth in the attached Brief in Support of Defendants' Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings filed pursuant to the Court's Briefing Schedule.

This motion will be heard on March 24, 2014, at 10:00 a.m., at Room 414 of the Milwaukee County Courthouse, 901 N. 9th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, before this Honorable Court.

Respectfully submitted this 20th day of January, 2014.

PHILLIPS BOROWSKI, S.C.
Attorneys for Defendants

By:

Andrew T. Phillips
State Bar No. 1022232
Daniel J. Borowski
State Bar No. 1011636
Jacob J. Curtis
State Bar No. 1072735

P.O. ADDRESS

10140 N. Port Washington Road
Mequon, WI 53092
Phone: (262) 241-7788
Fax: (262) 241-7779
Email: atp@phillipsborowski.com
djb@phillipsborowski.com
jjc@phillipsborowski.com

STATE OF WISCONSIN

CIRCUIT COURT
Branch 31

MILWAUKEE COUNTY

STATE OF WISCONSIN ex rel.
JOSEPH A. RICE,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 13-CV-4222
Case Code 30703

MARINA DIMITRIJEVIC, WILLIE JOHNSON JR.,
DAVID CULLEN, AND MILWAUKEE
COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,

Defendants.

DEFENDANTS' BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS

Plaintiff has filed a Complaint alleging that Defendants, Marina Dimitrijevic, Willie Johnson Jr., David Cullen, and the Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors (collectively the "Board" or "Supervisors"), twice violated Wisconsin's Open Meetings Law in the Spring of 2013. As set forth in detail below, even assuming all facts alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint to be true, Plaintiff has utterly failed to provide the Court with any legal or factual basis supporting a finding that the Board violated the Open Meetings Law. Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 802.06(3), Plaintiff's Complaint should be dismissed in its entirety.

WISCONSIN'S OPEN MEETINGS LAW

In enacting the Open Meetings Law, Wis. Stat. §§ 19.81 et seq., the Wisconsin legislature recognized the importance of "a public informed about government affairs." See Wisconsin Open Meetings Law: A Compliance Guide at 1 (2010) (Compliance Guide at ____).¹ Indeed, the law declares that “the public is entitled to the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business.” Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1) (emphasis added). Nonetheless, there are boundaries and limitations as to what the legislature mandated be “open” to the public. First and foremost, it is clear that the open meetings law applies only to “meetings” of a “governmental body.” Wis. Stat. § 19.83. Thus, the statutes define a “meeting” as “the convening of a governmental body for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body...” Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2). And a “governmental body” includes a “state or local agency, board, commission, committee, council, department or public body corporate and politic created by constitution, statute, ordinance, rule or order.” Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). Put simply, if a “governmental body” conducts a “meeting,” the Open Meetings law requires that the body give advance public notice of the meeting and conduct its official business in open session. See Compliance Guide at 10.

¹ The Compliance Guide is provided as an Appendix to this Brief.

While the definition of “governmental body” is broad enough to include “virtually any collective governmental entity,” not every gathering of public officials necessarily triggers the notice requirements which would otherwise be required for an open meeting. The most obvious exception relates to bodies that are engaged in collective bargaining. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). In particular, the definition of “governmental body” specifically “excludes any such body or committee or subunit of such body which is formed for or meeting for the purpose of collective bargaining under subch. I, IV, V, or VI of ch. 111.” Id. (emphasis added). The term also “does not include any social or chance gathering or conference which is not intended to avoid [the] subchapter...” See Compliance Guide at 10.

Moreover, the Supreme Court has established a test relating to when a “governmental body” is engaged in “governmental business” such that a “meeting” has occurred, thus triggering the notice and open session requirements. See State ex rel. Newspapers v. Showers, 135 Wis.2d 77, 102-03, 398 N.W.2d 154 (1987). In other words, not every gathering of public officials, even if the gathering constitutes a quorum of a “governmental body,” triggers the open meeting requirements.

Finally, even in circumstances where a “governmental body” conducts a “meeting,” the statutes contain several exemptions which allow a governmental body to convene in closed session, i.e., without members of the public present. Specifically with respect to collective bargaining, the open meetings law authorizes a closed session for “[d]eliberating or negotiating the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.” Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e); see also Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1) (excluding a committee meeting for the purpose of collective bargaining).

BACKGROUND FACTS AS ALLEGED IN THE COMPLAINT

As indicated above, the Complaint alleges that the Board twice violated the Open Meetings Law in the Spring of 2013.

The FPAC Closed Session Meeting. The first violation purportedly occurred in the context of a meeting of the Milwaukee County Board’s Finance, Personnel, and Audit Committee (the “FPAC”) on March 14, 2013. Complaint, ¶ 11. Prior to the meeting, on or about March 8, 2013, the Committee posted notice of the meeting. The notice plainly indicated that agenda items 34, 35 and 36 were likely to be considered in closed session. Id., ¶ 12. Particularly relevant to Plaintiff’s allegations, the agenda specifically provided as follows:

The Committee may adjourn into closed session under the provisions of Wisconsin Statutes, Section 19.85(1)(e), (g) for the purpose of the Committee deliberating or negotiating the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session; And for purposes of the Committee receiving oral or written advice from legal counsel concerning strategy to be adopted with respect to pending or possible litigation with regard to the following matter(s). At the conclusion of the closed session, the Committee may reconvene in open session to take whatever action(s) it may deem necessary.

34 13-4 From the Department of Labor Relations reports related to deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements.

...

35 13-6 From the Corporation Counsel, submitting an informational monthly report providing an update on the Status of Pending Litigation...

...

Complaint, Ex. A at 8.

Consistent with the agenda and following a unanimous vote, the FPAC proceeded in closed session. Following the meeting, and purportedly pursuant to direction provided in closed session, Plaintiff alleges that County Labor Relations Director Fred Bau entered into collective bargaining with five different labor unions. Id., ¶¶ 15-19.

The State Capitol “Meeting” Within the Assembly Hearing. Plaintiff also asserts that a quorum of the FPAC and Board engaged in unlawful “meetings” relating to an April 10, 2013 hearing on Assembly Bill 85 (“AB 85”) at the Capitol building in Madison. Id., ¶ 25. Plaintiff alleges that ten members of the full County Board, including seven of the nine members of the FPAC, were in attendance at the meeting. Id., ¶¶ 25-26. According to Plaintiff, because there was a quorum of the Board and the FPAC present at the Assembly hearing, the Board was required to provide public notice of the “meetings.” Plaintiff does not allege, nor is there any factual basis to conclude, that the Board conducted any official business at the Assembly hearing.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

Wisconsin courts have established that a motion for judgment on the pleadings, pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 802.06(3), is “essentially a ‘summary judgment minus affidavits and other supporting documents.’” Freedom from Religion Foundation, Inc. v. Thompson, 164 Wis. 2d 736, 740 (1991) (internal citations omitted). A motion for judgment on the pleadings tests the legal sufficiency of a complaint. See Beloit Liquidating Trust v. Grade, 2004 WI 39, ¶ 17, 270 Wis.2d 356, 677 N.W.2d 298 (equating defendants’ motion for judgment on the pleadings with a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted). “All facts pleaded and reasonable inferences that may be drawn from such facts are accepted as true, but only for purposes of testing the complaint’s legal sufficiency.” Id. (citations omitted).

ARGUMENT

I. BECAUSE THE MILWAUKEE COUNTY BOARD EXERCISES NO SUPERINTENDENT AUTHORITY OVER THE LEGISLATURE, THE BOARD’S GATHERING AT THE ASSEMBLY HEARING WAS NOT A “MEETING.”

According to the Complaint, several Board members attended a legislative hearing in Madison. Consequently, Plaintiff alleges that the County failed to properly give notice of the alleged Board “meeting” related to the April 10, 2013 hearing on AB 85. Complaint, ¶ 43. Plaintiff further alleges that “[t]he subject of the legislative hearing dealt directly with the scope of Board members’ decision-making responsibilities.” Id., ¶ 41. Plaintiff finally alleges that the members’ attendance “was neither social nor by chance.” Id., ¶ 42. Plaintiff’s claim that these allegations support finding that the Board violated the Open Meetings Law is unsupported as a matter of law.

A. While AB 85 impacted Milwaukee County, the members of the Board retained no authority to vote on its passage or defeat.

Plaintiff characterizes AB 85 as follows:

changing the compensation structure by which a Milwaukee County supervisor may be paid, changing the term length of a Milwaukee County supervisor, affecting the right of an annuitant under the Milwaukee County Employee's Retirement System to be rehired by Milwaukee County, limiting the authority of Milwaukee County to enter into certain intergovernmental agreements, removing and clarifying some authority of the Milwaukee County board, increasing and clarifying the authority of the Milwaukee County executive, deleting obsolete statutory references, and requiring a referendum.

Complaint, ¶ 27. Consistent with Plaintiff's apparent belief, there can be little disagreement that at the time of its consideration, the passage (or defeat) of AB 85 would have a direct impact on the Milwaukee County Board. However, a matter's impact on a unit of government does not trigger the Open Meetings Law, as Plaintiff would have this Court believe. The test for purposes of establishing compliance, or lack thereof, with the Open Meetings Law is whether the entity met to discuss or obtain information on a matter over which it had decision-making authority.

Plaintiff cites to Badke v. Village Board of the Village of Greendale, 173 Wis. 2d 553, 561, 494 N.W.2d 408 (1993) when he alleges that “[w]hen ‘one-half or more of the members of a governmental body attend a meeting of another governmental body in order to gather information about a subject over which they have decision-making responsibility, such a gathering is a ‘meeting’ within the meaning of the open meeting law, unless the gathering is social or chance.” Complaint, ¶ 39. Plaintiff goes on to allege that in this case, the “[t]he subject of the legislative hearing dealt directly with the scope of Board members’ decision-making responsibilities.” Id., ¶ 41. Contrary to Plaintiff's claim, neither Badke nor any other cases stand for the blanket proposition that a gathering of officials at another governmental body's meeting automatically means there is a “meeting.”

Prior to Badke, the court in Showers established “that whenever members of a governmental body meet to engage in government business, be it discussion, decision or information gathering, the Open Meetings Law applies if the number of members present are sufficient to determine the parent body's course of action regarding the proposal discussed at the meeting.” 135 Wis.2d at 80 (emphasis added). Applying this standard, the court in Showers found that the four defendants, all members of the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage Commission, had violated the Open Meetings Law when they had met privately to discuss an impasse over the passage of an operating budget for the district. Id. at 82. The court’s analysis included an extensive review of legislative history surrounding passage of Wis. Stats. §§ 19.81-87 as well as State ex rel. Lynch v. Conta, 71 Wis.2d 662, 239 N.W.2d 313 (1976), wherein the court held that “[w]hen the members of a governmental body gather in sufficient numbers to compose a quorum, and then intentionally expose themselves to the decision-making process on business of their parent body – by the receipt of evidence, advisory testimony, and the views of each other – an evasion of the law is evidenced.” Id. at 90 (quoting Conta, 71 Wis.2d at 685).²

In finding that a violation occurred, the Showers court established a “trigger” which brings the Open Meetings Law into play. According to Showers, “there must [first] be a purpose to engage in governmental business, be it discussion, decision or information gathering. Second, the number of members present must be sufficient to determine the parent body’s course of action regarding the proposal discussed.” Id. at 103. In stark contrast to the commissioners in Showers, who were meeting in private to discuss the operating budget of the “parent body,” i.e., the Sewerage District, the Board members here monitored and participated in a public hearing before an Assembly Committee – clearly not the “parent body” of the Milwaukee County Board.

² The Conta court nevertheless found that the meetings were not within the ambit of the Open Meetings Law because of the then existing exception for partisan caucuses of members of the state legislature. See Showers, 135 Wis.2d at 92.

Similarly, in Badke the court considered the actions of members of the Village of Greendale Board in attending meetings of the Village's own Plan Commission. Plaintiff's reference to Badke fails to take into account how the actions of the Village of Greendale Board members differed from those taken by the members of the Milwaukee County Board at issue in this case. The Greendale Board members had attended Plan Commission meetings where the approval of a proposed housing project was being debated. Importantly, upon approval by the Plan Commission, the housing project required ultimate approval by the Village Board. The Badke court held that when "one-half or more of the members of a governmental body attend a meeting of another governmental body in order to gather information about a subject over which they have decision-making responsibility, such a gathering is a 'meeting' within the meaning of the open meeting law, unless the gathering is social or chance." 173 Wis.2d at 561 (emphasis added). More specifically, the court focused on the fact that under the Village's procedures, an application for a special use permit is first given to the Plan Commission for its recommendation and then to the Village Board for "its final decision." Id. at 562. Thus, the Village Board's failure to issue notice of the members' attendance at the Plan Commission meetings was a violation of the Open Meetings Law because they were gathering information "about matters over which they had decision-making responsibility." Id. at 570.

The court's decision in Paulton v. Volkmann, 141 Wis.2d 370, 415 N.W.2d 528 (Ct.App. 1987) is particularly instructive as it relates to the legal insufficiency of Plaintiff's claim. In Paulton, members of the Phelps school board attended a Town of Alvin board meeting. Paulton, 141 Wis.2d at 372. The topic being discussed at the Town meeting was the possibility of merging the Alvin and Phelps school districts. The Phelps school district issued no public notice of the school board members' attendance at the Town of Alvin meeting. The court, emphasizing that pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2) a meeting occurs when members of a governmental body convene for “the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body,” it found that the Phelps school board members did not exercise any of their official responsibilities, power, or duties. Id. at 375 and 377. The court specifically referenced the decision in Showers, noting that there the members exchanged information and discussed the merits of certain official committee actions. Id. at 377.

The test for determining whether a breach of the Open Meetings law occurred is not whether the Legislature’s “meeting” impacted the Board, but whether the Board considered information relating to a subject over which it had decision-making responsibility. The Board members had no ability to vote for or against AB 85, either at the committee meeting or in the full Assembly. Nor, as noted above, could the Board take any official action that would somehow limit or modify the application of AB 85 if signed into law. Therefore, as a matter of law, the Board did not conduct a “meeting” when certain members of the Board attended the Legislative hearing and Plaintiff’s claim related to this issue should be dismissed as a matter of law.

II. THE AGENDA NOTIFYING THE PUBLIC THAT THE BOARD WAS CONSIDERING ENTERING INTO CLOSED SESSION COMPLIED WITH THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW.

In a separate claim, Plaintiff alleges that the Board provided insufficient notice for the March 14, 2013 meeting wherein the Board entered closed session to discuss collective bargaining-related concerns. Complaint, ¶ 51. Specifically, Plaintiff alleges that the notice language simply copied from the statute the acceptable subjects and reasons which would have justified entering closed session and this, in turn, failed the Buswell test in violation of Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2). Id., ¶¶ 48-49. Again, Plaintiff neglects to recognize long-standing statutory exemptions in the Open Meetings Law clearly showing that the Board acted properly under the law.

As Plaintiff alleges, pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2), “[e]very public notice of a meeting of a governmental body shall set forth the ... subject matter of the meeting, including that intended for consideration at any closed session, in such form as is reasonably likely to apprise members of the public and the news media thereof.” Further, as Plaintiff claims, in its meeting notice and agenda, the Board cited the entire exemption under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(e), which allows for entry into closed session to “[d]eliberat[e] or negotiat[e] the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.”

However, Plaintiff fails to recognize the blanket statutory exemption for collective bargaining activities. Moreover, even if the blanket statutory exemption does not apply, Plaintiff’s selective quotation of the Board’s agenda and partial citation to the Wisconsin standard for providing notice of entry into closed session does not, and cannot, provide sufficient support to find a violation of Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2). As a matter of law, Plaintiff’s second claim against the Board must also be dismissed.

A. The body of Plaintiff’s Complaint completely mischaracterizes the March 14, 2013 Meeting Agenda attached to Plaintiff’s Complaint.

As an initial matter, Plaintiff’s allegation that the notice “merely quoted verbatim the statutory exemption from the requirement of open meetings found in § 19.85(1)(e)” ignores a crucial series of entries in the meeting agenda, which are clearly identified in Exhibit A to Plaintiff’s Complaint. Complaint, ¶ 46. The notice actually provides that “[t]he Committee may adjourn into closed session under the provisions of Wisconsin Statutes, Section 19.85(1)(e), (g) for the purpose of the Committee deliberating or negotiating the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session...” Complaint, Ex. A at 8. The notice goes on to cite the relevant exemption provided by Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(g) for purposes of conferring with legal counsel. Id. The notice therefore provided two separate grounds for entering closed session with respect to the three listed agenda items, in particular agenda item 34 relating to the Department of Labor Relations report – conducting business required by competitive or bargaining reasons and/or receiving advice from legal counsel.

But contrary to Plaintiff’s allegations, the meeting notice did not stop with a recitation of the applicable statute. Instead, the notice continues and specifically cites the three items which the Board wished to consider at its March 14, 2013 meeting. Id. at 8-9. Consistent with the preceding 33 discussion and/or action items listed on the agenda, item 34 provided information which was “reasonably likely to apprise members of the public and the news media” of the subject to be discussed. In particular, the agenda noted the possibility that the Board may adjourn into closed session to consider a report “[f]rom the Department of Labor Relations...related to deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements.” Id. at 8. Item 35 references the monthly report from Corporation Counsel providing a status on pending litigation. Id. And item 36 references an update from the President and CEO of the Marcus Center for the Performing Arts regarding the status of negotiations between the County and the Marcus Center for a proposed new parking structure. Id. at 9. The Board’s notice complied with all statutory requirements as a matter of law.

B. The Board was not a “governmental body” when it was meeting to discuss issues related to deliberation, negotiation, or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements, and even if it was a “governmental body,” it cited the appropriate closed session exception as a “multi-purpose” body.

The explicit exemption to the definition of “governmental body” under Wis. Stat. 19.82(1), as well as the Attorney General in formal opinions and the Compliance Guide, leave little doubt that the definition of “governmental body” simply does not apply to collective bargaining activities. As outlined above, the definition of “governmental body” specifically “excludes any such body or committee or subunit of such body which is formed for or meeting for the purpose of collective bargaining under subch. I, IV, V, or VI of ch. 111.” Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1) (emphasis added). Indeed, the Attorney General has emphasized in no uncertain terms that “[a] body formed exclusively for the purposes of collective bargaining is not subject to the open meetings law.” Compliance Guide at 5 (citing Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1)). Even a body formed for other purposes, in addition to collective bargaining (such as the FPAC), is not subject to the open meetings law when conducting collective bargaining.³ Id.

The description of FPAC is as follows:

County budget matters, taxation and insurance are all reviewed by this Committee. Audit reports are reviewed to ensure other county departments implement program improvements and cost-saving recommendations of the County Board. This committee also includes employee relations, reclassification, compensation and conditions of employment of County personnel and officers. Members set policy for the Civil Service Commission and administer the county Employee Merit Award program.

See <http://county.milwaukee.gov/FPA> (emphasis added). While the FPAC clearly is not formed exclusively for the purpose of collective bargaining, both its description as well the agenda at issue in this case establish that the committee is the very type of “multi-purpose” body which is not subject to the open meetings law when conducting collective bargaining.

As established by this description, even if this Court finds that the exemption for entities engaged in collective bargaining is inapplicable in this case, the multi-purpose FPAC nonetheless appropriately proceeded in closed session pursuant to the exception set forth in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e), which allows for entry into closed session to “[d]eliberat[e] or negotiat[e] the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.”

³ Such multi-purpose bodies must still comply with the open meetings law, including requirements for convening in closed session, when “meeting for the purpose of forming negotiating strategies to be used in collective bargaining.” Id. (citing 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 93, 96-97 (1977)).

The court’s decision in State ex rel. Citizens for Responsible Development v. City of Milton, 2007 WI App. 114, 300 Wis. 2d 649, 731 N.W.2d 640, is instructive. While the court in City of Milton found that the City had improperly closed ten (10) different meetings it had conducted relating to negotiations with a private developer, the court nonetheless emphasized that the City was correct in arguing that the portions of the meetings that would have revealed the negotiation strategy with the developer could be closed pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e). Id. at ¶ 19. The court specifically held that “[d]eveloping a negotiation strategy ... is an example of what is contemplated by ‘whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.’” Id.

The Wisconsin Attorney General has also focused on the ability of governmental units to enter closed session for purposes of developing collective bargaining negotiation strategies. In a 1994 opinion, the Attorney General opined that a governmental body may convene in closed session to formulate collective bargaining strategy but that Wis. Stat. § 19.85(3) requires that deliberations leading to ratification of a tentative agreement with a bargaining unit, as well as the ratification vote, had to be held in open session. 81 Atty. Gen. 139, 139 (1994). The Attorney General emphasized that his interpretation “permit[ted] a governmental body to convene in closed session to formulate strategy while engaged in negotiations with a collective bargaining unit.” Id. at 140 (emphasis added). “The obvious purposes of section 19.85(1)(e) is to permit a governmental body to meet in closed session where to do otherwise would compromise the governmental body’s bargaining position by revealing its negotiating strategy.” Id. at 140-41.

Plaintiff admits that “discussing bargaining tactics with an appointed negotiator is an appropriate ‘bargaining reason[] require[ing] a closed session.’” Complaint, ¶ 60. Without support, Plaintiff then proceeds to argue that there is no “valid competitive or bargaining reason that the action of voting to appoint a negotiator to enter into negotiations needs to be secret.” Id. Certainly the selection of the individual that is tasked with implementing a bargaining strategy⁴ which has been formulated is part of the strategy contemplated by Wisconsin courts and the Attorney General, as outlined above.⁵

Moreover, the notice provided by the County Board specifically references the protection offered by Section 19.85(1)(g), which exempts from open meeting requirements the receipt of “oral or written advice from legal counsel concerning strategy to be adopted with respect to pending or possible litigation with regard to the following matters,” one of which was the presentation of the Department of Labor Relations report on the collective bargaining agreements. To complain about an alleged insufficient notice yet not allow the Committee to confer with legal counsel regarding the deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements, particularly in light of the recently passed Acts 10 and 32, is entirely inconsistent.⁶

⁴ Defendants are assuming for the sake of argument that such a selection was one of the action items available to the Committee in closed session. But a closer look at the Milwaukee County Ordinances establishes that the naming of a County negotiator is already established by ordinance. See Chapter 79 of the Milwaukee County Ordinances (designating the labor relations director as the collective bargaining negotiator for the County).

⁵ Plaintiff’s lack of support is further highlighted when he alleges that the notice “explicitly states that any action on a decision made in closed session will be taken after the meeting is reconvened into open session.” Id., ¶ 61 (emphasis added). The notice states no such thing. Understanding that the Board may have been entering into closed session to consider a report from the Department of Labor Relations, including considering negotiating strategies, it noticed in the agenda that “[a]t the conclusion of the closed session, the Committee may reconvene in open session to take whatever action(s) it may deem necessary.” Complaint, Ex. A at 8.

⁶ In addition to Buswell, several other examples exist which provide insight into the type of notice which can be considered sufficient. In State ex rel. Wanninger v. City of Manitowoc Public Library Bd., the court upheld the notice provided by the Board which relied on the standard language associated with Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) as well as the following subject matter description: discussion of the role, duties, and responsibilities of the Library Director and evaluation of job performance and possible action. 2012 WI App 62, ¶ 19, 341 Wis. 2d 490, 815 N.W.2d 407 (unpublished decision) (pursuant to Rule 809.23(3), post-July 1, 2009 unpublished opinions may be cited for persuasive value). The court found that the notice was sufficient to inform those who were interested in what was up for discussion. Id. at ¶ 20. While admittedly a pre-Buswell case, the court in State ex rel. Schaeve v. Van Lare held that a notice to convene in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(b) “to conduct a hearing to consider the possible discipline of a public employee” was sufficient. 125 Wis.2d 40, 47, 370 N.W.2d 271 (Ct. App. 1985).

C. The Board satisfied the Buswell test.

Understanding that the Board did in fact provide more than a “mere quotation” to the statutory exemption, it is equally important to consider that Wisconsin law requires nothing more, in terms of notice, than that which was provided by the Board. Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2), “[e]very public notice of a meeting of a governmental body shall set forth the ... subject matter of the meeting, including that intended for consideration at any closed session, in such form as is reasonably likely to apprise members of the public and the news media thereof.” Such a notice must certainly “contain enough information for the public to discern whether the subject matter is authorized for closed session under § 19.85(1).” State ex rel. Buswell v. Tomah Area School Dist., 2007 WI 71, ¶ 37 n.7, 301 Wis.2d 178, 732 N.W.2d 804. While the Buswell court articulated a standard by which notices must be judged, Plaintiff’s conclusion that the Board’s notice failed to meet that standard misapplies Buswell and fails to take into account the additional language referencing the Department of Labor Relations report in the notice.

Applying a reasonableness standard, the court in Buswell focused on the burden of providing more detailed notice, whether the subject is of particular public interest, and whether it involves non-routine action that the public would be unlikely to anticipate. Id. at ¶ 28. The court emphasized that the “determination of whether notice is sufficient should be based upon what information is available to the officer noticing the meeting at the time notice is provided, and based upon what it would be reasonable for the officer to know.” Id. at ¶ 32.

The reasonableness standard outlined by the Buswell court simply does not require the type of notice that Plaintiff seems to believe is required. Instead, “[a] reasonableness standard will not require that every issue on every agenda always be enumerated because such a requirement would be unreasonable. Rather, general subject headings may suffice in cases where a general heading reasonably apprises members of the public of the subject matter of the meeting.” Id. at ¶ 33.

Moreover, the facts of Buswell are unique and distinct from those before this Court. Unlike the notice provided by the Milwaukee County Board, which provided the identity of the report presenter as well as the fact that the subject of the report related to the “deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements,” the School Board in Buswell simply issued a public notice which referred to “[c]ontemplated closed session for consideration and/or action concerning employment/negotiations with District personnel pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c).” Id. at ¶ 6. In finding the notice inadequate, the court noted that the description was vague because it “could cover negotiations with any group of district personnel or with any individual employee within the district.” Id. at 36. Here, the Department of Labor Relation’s report specifically referenced collective bargaining agreements, and therefore could have only involved those employees who were members of a unit affected by a collective bargaining agreement. In addition, the Buswell court found the notice misleading in that it referenced the incorrect exception under Wis. Stat. § 19.85. While the notice relied upon in Buswell was Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c), it should have referenced Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e). No such deception is present in this case. The Board accurately referenced Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e) and (g) as the exemptions which allowed it to enter closed session.

Turning to the three factors as applied by the Buswell court, Plaintiff fails, as a matter of law, to allege facts in support of the argument that the notice provided by the Board fails any of the three tests. Unlike the situation in Buswell, where the listing of the TEA master contract in the notice would not have been a burden to the School Board, requiring the Board to list all of the units with which it was simply investigating the possibility of deliberating, negotiating, or renegotiating is the type of burden which the Buswell court later protected the School Board against. Plaintiff's allegation, in applying the Buswell standard, fails to note that while the court found the notice insufficient, it did not support a finding that the School Board was required to list the provision relating to the hiring of certain teachers.⁷ Instead, the court held that "requiring that public notice list which individual provisions of collective bargaining agreements will be discussed in closed session could serve to undermine governmental bodies' bargaining positions, which would place a substantial burden on them." Id. at ¶ 44.

With respect to the second test, there is simply nothing in Plaintiff's complaint indicating that the type of community interest present in the Buswell case, where "[s]everal citizens had made the effort to petition the Board regarding whether to put a provision for hiring coaches into the master contract", was present before the County Board. While Acts 10 and 32 certainly generated wide-spread interest throughout the state, the issue being considered by the County Board was the deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements. The standard applied to the decision of the Board is one of reasonableness. In fact, the Buswell court made clear it was not imposing a "per se requirement to predict and gauge public interest on each subject at every meeting. Where predicting and gauging public interest imposes an unreasonable burden, the bodies will not be required to do so." Id. at ¶ 35.

Similarly, with respect to the third prong of Buswell, the deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements would not rise to the level of individualized interest present in Buswell, and therefore did not present the type of non-routine subject at issue there. To the extent Plaintiff alleges a valid concern regarding the uniqueness of entering into negotiations with collective bargaining units following the passage of Acts 10 and 32, the complaint fails to recognize the possibility that the County's counsel was providing legal analysis and advice regarding the deliberation, negotiation or renegotiation of collective bargaining agreements post-Acts 10 and 32.

⁷ The Board in no way waives its objection to paragraph 49 of the complaint, which clearly contains legal conclusions to which no response is required. See Complaint, ¶ 49 and response to same contained in Amended Answer and Affirmative Defenses of Defendants at 10.

III. THE BOARD PROPERLY ANNOUNCED THE CLOSED SESSION.

Plaintiff alleges "upon information and belief" that the announcement, "to the extent such an announcement was made" was simply a recitation of the statutory exemption language contained in the noticed agenda. Complaint, ¶ 55. As Plaintiff confirms, the presiding officer must "announce[]" to those present at the meeting at which such motion [to go into closed session] is made, the nature of the business to be considered at such closed session, and the specific exemption or exemptions under this subsection by which such closed session is claimed to be authorized." Id., ¶ 53 (quoting Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)).

A review of the actions taken by the presiding officer at the March 14, 2013 FPAC meeting, Supervisor Willie Johnson, Jr., establishes that Supervisor Johnson adequately announced the formal entry into closed session.⁸ In fact, it appears that Supervisor Johnson took several formal steps not explicitly required by the Open Meetings Law, thereby making the notice provided the public more than sufficient for purposes of entering closed session.

Supervisor Johnson began his announcement by specifically notifying the public that the committee was prepared to address agenda items 34, 35, and 36. See March 14, 2013, FPAC meeting video at 04:01:38 mark. As discussed in detail above, the agenda specifically detailed the report from the Department of Labor Relations, the litigation report to be provided by Corporation Counsel, and a verbal update regarding negotiations relating to the Marcus Center. Relying on the advice of counsel, Supervisor Johnson asked then Corporation Counsel Grady whether any of the issues under agenda items 34, 35, and 36 should be discussed in open session, which resulted in a statement from Corporation Counsel regarding the need to enter closed session. See id. at 04:02:38. Corporation Counsel Grady himself noted his understanding that the Committee would be addressing the three agenda items in order. See id. at 04:02:41.

⁸ Complete video of the March 14, 2013, FPAC meeting is available online by visiting the Milwaukee County website at the following link: <https://milwaukeecounty.legistar.com/Calendar.aspx>. Upon arrival at the web page, simply select "2013" in the drop down menu at the top of the webpage followed by "Finance, Personnel, and Audit Committee" in the adjacent drop down menu. Next, select the "video" related to the March 14, 2013 FPAC meeting. Citations to the video herein will reference the time stamp being referenced.

Most importantly, Supervisor Johnson, as the presiding officer and within the context of the previous reference to agenda items 34, 35, and 36, next announced that the committee would go into closed session. See id. at 04:02:43. Supervisor Johnson requested that the Vice Chairman of the committee, Supervisor Jason Haas, announce the statutory basis for entry into closed session. See id. at 04:02:58. Supervisor Hass proceeded to clearly articulate the statutory references and the purpose for entry into closed session. Supervisor Alexander then specifically requested the “formal OK” from Corporation Counsel that it was advisable to enter into closed session, specifically for the purpose of allowing the committee to rely on the opinion of counsel. See id. at 04:03:45. Corporation Counsel Grady then advised the committee it was able to enter closed session. See id. at 04:04:00. Supervisor Johnson announced that a motion was being made to enter into closed session (see id. at 04:04:15) and a unanimous vote was then taken (see id. at 04:04:20).

All of the actions taken by the presiding officer, Supervisor Johnson, provided sufficient information to the public, such that any uncertainty regarding the need to enter closed session would have been dispelled by the clear references to the agenda items to be discussed in closed session, the clear reference to the statutory exemptions permitting entry into closed session, and the reliance upon the advice of counsel, who was present throughout the announcement time frame.

Because of these actions, there was no violation of the Wisconsin Open Meetings Law and Plaintiff's claim must be dismissed.

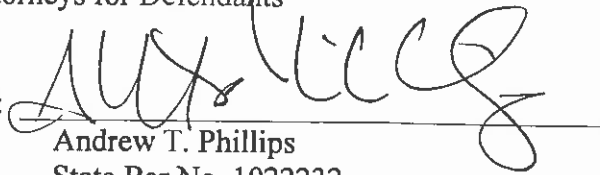

CONCLUSION

Because the Milwaukee County Board exercised no superintendent authority over the legislature, the Board's gathering at the Assembly Hearing was not a "meeting" under the Open Meetings Law. Moreover, the agenda notifying the public that the FPAC committee was considering entering closed session on March 14, 2013 complied with the Open Meetings Law. Because Plaintiff can establish no violation of the Open Meetings Law, his Complaint should be dismissed in its entirety and with prejudice.

Dated this 21st day of January, 2014.

PHILLIPS BOROWSKI, S.C.
Attorneys for Defendants

By:

Andrew T. Phillips
State Bar No. 1022232
Jacob J. Curtis
State Bar No. 1072735

P.O. ADDRESS

10140 N. Port Washington Road
Mequon, WI 53092
Phone: (262) 241-7788
Fax: (262) 241-7779
Email: atp@phillipsborowski.com
jjc@phillipsborowski.com

STATE OF WISCONSIN

CIRCUIT COURT
Branch 31

MILWAUKEE COUNTY

STATE OF WISCONSIN ex rel.
JOSEPH A. RICE,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 13-CV-4222
Case Code 30703

MARINA DIMITRIJEVIC, WILLIE JOHNSON JR.,
DAVID CULLEN, AND MILWAUKEE
COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,

Defendants.

DEFENDANTS' APPENDIX TO BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Wisconsin Open Meetings Law: A Compliance Guide (2010)

WISCONSIN OPEN MEETINGS LAW

A COMPLIANCE GUIDE

August 2010

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
ATTORNEY GENERAL J.B. VAN HOLLEN

Effective citizen oversight of the workings of government is essential to our democracy and promotes confidence in it. Public access to meetings of governmental bodies is a vital aspect of this principle.

Promoting compliance with Wisconsin's open meetings law by raising awareness and providing education and information about the law is an ongoing part of the mission of the Wisconsin Department of Justice. Citizens and public officials who understand their rights and responsibilities under the law will be better equipped to advance Wisconsin's policy of openness in government.

Wisconsin Open Meetings Law: A Compliance Guide is not a comprehensive interpretation of the open meetings law. Its aim is to provide a workable understanding of the law by explaining fundamental principles and addressing recurring questions. Government officials and others seeking legal advice about the application of the open meetings law to specific factual situations should direct questions to their own legal advisors.

This Compliance Guide is also available on the Wisconsin Department of Justice website at www.doj.state.wi.us, to download, copy, and share. The website version contains links to many of the opinions and letters cited in the text of the Guide.

As Attorney General, I cannot overstate the importance of fully complying with the open meetings law and fostering a policy of open government for all Wisconsin citizens. To that end, I invite all government entities to contact the Department of Justice whenever our additional assistance can be of help to you.

J.B. Van Hollen
Attorney General
August 2010

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
I. POLICY OF THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW	1
II. WHEN DOES THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW APPLY?	1
A. Definition Of "Governmental Body"	2
1. Entities that are governmental bodies	2
a. State or local agencies, boards, and commissions.....	2
b. Subunits	3
c. State Legislature.....	4
d. Governmental or quasi-governmental corporations.....	4
2. Entities that are not governmental bodies	5
a. Governmental offices held by a single individual.....	5
b. Bodies meeting for collective bargaining	5
c. Bodies created by the Wisconsin Supreme Court	5
d. Ad hoc gatherings	6
B. Definition Of "Meeting"	6
1. The Showers test	6
a. The purpose requirement.....	6
b. The numbers requirement.....	7
2. Convening of members	7
a. Written correspondence.....	7
b. Telephone conference calls	8
c. Electronic communications	8
3. Walking quorums	9
4. Multiple meetings	9
5. Burden of proof as to existence of a meeting.....	9
III. WHAT IS REQUIRED IF THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW APPLIES?	10
A. Notice Requirements	10
1. To whom and how notice must be given.....	10
2. Contents of notice	11
a. In general	11
b. Generic agenda items.....	12
c. Action agenda items.....	13
d. Notice of closed sessions	13
3. Time of notice	13
4. Compliance with notice.....	14

- B. Open Session Requirements..... 14
 - 1. Accessibility..... 14
 - 2. Access for persons with disabilities 15
 - 3. Tape recording and videotaping..... 16
 - 4. Citizen participation..... 16
 - 5. Ballots, votes, and records, including meeting minutes 16
- IV. WHEN IS IT PERMISSIBLE TO CONVENE IN CLOSED SESSION? 17
 - A. Notice Of Closed Session..... 17
 - B. Procedure For Convening In Closed Session 18
 - C. Authorized Closed Sessions 18
 - 1. Judicial or quasi-judicial hearings..... 18
 - 2. Employment and licensing matters 19
 - a. Consideration of dismissal, demotion, discipline, licensing, and tenure 19
 - b. Consideration of employment, promotion, compensation, and performance evaluations 19
 - 3. Consideration of financial, medical, social, or personal information.....20
 - 4. Conducting public business with competitive or bargaining implications.....21
 - 5. Conferring with legal counsel with respect to litigation21
 - 6. Remaining exemptions.....22
 - D. Who May Attend A Closed Session.....22
 - E. Voting In An Authorized Closed Session22
 - F. Reconvening In Open Session.....23
- V. WHO ENFORCES THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW AND WHAT ARE ITS PENALTIES?23
 - A. Enforcement23
 - B. Penalties24
 - C. Interpretation by Attorney General.....26

WISCONSIN OPEN MEETINGS LAW¹

I. POLICY OF THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW.

The State of Wisconsin recognizes the importance of having a public informed about governmental affairs. The state's open meetings law declares that:

In recognition of the fact that a representative government of the American type is dependent upon an informed electorate, it is declared to be the policy of this state that the public is entitled to the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business.

Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1).²

In order to advance this policy, the open meetings law requires that “all meetings of all state and local governmental bodies shall be publicly held in places reasonably accessible to members of the public and shall be open to all citizens at all times unless otherwise expressly provided by law.” Wis. Stat. § 19.81(2). There is thus a presumption that meetings of governmental bodies must be held in open session. State ex rel. Newspapers v. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d 77, 97, 398 N.W.2d 154 (1987). Although there are some exemptions allowing closed sessions in specified circumstances, they are to be invoked sparingly and only where necessary to protect the public interest. The policy of the open meetings law dictates that governmental bodies convene in closed session only where holding an open session would be incompatible with the conduct of governmental affairs. “Mere government inconvenience is . . . no bar to the requirements of the law.” State ex rel. Lynch v. Conta, 71 Wis. 2d 662, 678, 239 N.W.2d 313 (1976).

The open meetings law explicitly provides that all of its provisions must be liberally construed to achieve its purposes. Wis. Stat. § 19.81(4); St. ex rel. Badke v. Greendale Village Bd., 173 Wis. 2d 553, 570, 494 N.W.2d 408 (1993); State ex rel. Lawton v. Town of Barton, 2005 WI App 16, ¶ 19, 278 Wis. 2d 388, 692 N.W.2d 304 (“The legislature has issued a clear mandate that we are to vigorously and liberally enforce the policy behind the open meetings law”). This rule of liberal construction applies in all situations, except enforcement actions in which forfeitures are sought. Wis. Stat. § 19.81(4). Public officials must be ever mindful of the policy of openness and the rule of liberal construction in order to ensure compliance with both the letter and spirit of the law. State ex rel. Citizens for Responsible Development v. City of Milton, 2007 WI App 114, ¶ 6, 300 Wis. 2d 649, 731 N.W.2d 640 (“The legislature has made the policy choice that, despite the efficiency advantages of secret government, a transparent process is favored”).

II. WHEN DOES THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW APPLY?

The open meetings law applies to every “meeting” of a “governmental body.” Wis. Stat. § 19.83. The terms “meeting” and “governmental body” are defined in Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1) and (2).

¹The 2009 Open Meetings Law Compliance Guide was prepared by Assistant Attorneys General Thomas C. Bellavia and Bruce A. Olsen. The text reflects the continuing contributions of former Assistant Attorneys General Alan M. Lee and Mary Woolsey Schlaefter to earlier editions of the Guide. The assistance of reviewers Sandra L. Tarver, Steven P. Means, Kevin Potter, Kevin St. John, and Raymond P. Taffora, and the technical and administrative support of Connie L. Anderson, Amanda J. Welte, and Sara J. Paul is gratefully acknowledged.

²The text of this, and all other, sections of the open meetings law appears in Appendix A.

A. Definition Of “Governmental Body.”

1. Entities that are governmental bodies.

a. State or local agencies, boards, and commissions.

The definition of “governmental body” includes a “state or local agency, board, commission, committee, council, department or public body corporate and politic created by constitution, statute, ordinance, rule or order[.]” Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). This definition is broad enough to include virtually any collective governmental entity, regardless of what it is labeled. It is important to note that a governmental body is defined primarily in terms of the manner in which it is created, rather than in terms of the type of authority it possesses. Purely advisory bodies are therefore subject to the law, even though they do not possess final decision making power, as long as they are created by constitution, statute, ordinance, rule, or order. See State v. Swanson, 92 Wis. 2d 310, 317, 284 N.W.2d 655 (1979).

The words “constitution,” “statute,” and “ordinance,” as used in the definition of “governmental body,” refer to the constitution and statutes of the State of Wisconsin and to ordinances promulgated by a political subdivision of the state. The definition thus includes state and local bodies created by Wisconsin’s constitution or statutes, including condemnation commissions created by Wis. Stat. § 32.08, as well as local bodies created by an ordinance of any Wisconsin municipality. It does not, however, include bodies created solely by federal law or by the law of some other sovereign.

State and local bodies created by “rule or order” are also included in the definition. The term “rule or order” has been liberally construed to include any directive, formal or informal, creating a body and assigning it duties. 78 Op. Att’y Gen. 67, 68-69 (1989). This includes directives from governmental bodies, presiding officers of governmental bodies, or certain governmental officials, such as county executives, mayors, or heads of a state or local agency, department or division. See 78 Op. Att’y Gen. 67. A group organized by its own members pursuant to its own charter, however, is not created by any governmental directive and thus is not a governmental body, even if it is subject to governmental regulation and receives public funding and support.³ The relationship of affiliation between the University of Wisconsin Union and various student clubs thus is not sufficient to make the governing board of such a club a governmental body. Penkalski Correspondence, May 4, 2009.

The Wisconsin Attorney General has concluded that the following entities are “governmental bodies” subject to the open meetings law:

State or local bodies created by constitution, statute, or ordinance:

- A municipal public utility managing a city-owned public electrical utility. 65 Op. Att’y Gen. 243 (1976).
- Departments of formally constituted subunits of the University of Wisconsin system or campus. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 60 (1977).
- A town board, but not an annual or special town meeting of town electors. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 237 (1977).
- A county board of zoning adjustment authorized by Wis. Stat § 59.99(3) (1983) (now Wis. Stat. § 59.694(1)). Gaylord Correspondence, June 11, 1984.

³But see the discussion of quasi-governmental corporations in section II.A.1.d. of this Guide.

- A public inland lake protection and rehabilitation district established by a county or municipality, pursuant to Wis. Stat. §§ 33.21 to 33.27. DuVall Correspondence, November 6, 1986.

State or local bodies created by resolution, rule, or order:

- A committee appointed by the school superintendent to consider school library materials. Staples Correspondence, February 10, 1981.
- A citizen's advisory group appointed by the mayor. Funkhouser Correspondence, March 17, 1983.
- An advisory committee appointed by the Natural Resources Board, the Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, or a District Director, Bureau Director or Property Manager of that department. 78 Op. Att'y Gen. 67.
- A consortium of school districts created by a contract between districts: a resolution is the equivalent of an order. I-10-93, October 15, 1993.
- An industrial agency created by resolution of a county board under Wis. Stat. § 59.071. I-22-90, April 4, 1990.
- A deed restriction committee created by resolution of a common council. I-34-90, May 25, 1990.
- A school district's strategic-planning team whose creation was authorized and whose duties were assigned to it by the school board. I-29-91, October 17, 1991.
- A citizen's advisory committee appointed by a county executive. Jacques Correspondence, January 26, 2004.
- An already-existing numerically definable group of employees of a governmental entity, assigned by the entity's chief administrative officer to prepare recommendations for the entity's policy-making board, when the group's meetings include the subject of the chief administrative officer's directive. Tylka Correspondence, June 8, 2005.
- A Criminal Justice Study Commission created by the Wisconsin Department of Justice, the University of Wisconsin Law School, the State Bar of Wisconsin, and the Marquette University Law School. Lichstein Correspondence, September 20, 2005.
- Grant review panels created by a consortium which was established pursuant to an order of the Wisconsin Commissioner of Insurance. Katayama Correspondence, January 20, 2006.
- A joint advisory task force established by a resolution of a Wisconsin town board and a resolution of the legislature of a sovereign Indian tribe. I-04-09, September 28, 2009.
- A University of Wisconsin student government committee, council, representative assembly, or similar collective body that has been created and assigned governmental responsibilities pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 36.09(5). I-05-09, December 17, 2009.

Any entity that fits within the definition of "governmental body" must comply with the requirements of the open meetings law. In most cases, it is readily apparent whether a particular body fits within the definition. On occasion, there is some doubt. Any doubts as to the applicability of the open meetings law should be resolved in favor of complying with the law's requirements.

b. Subunits.

A "formally constituted subunit" of a governmental body is itself a "governmental body" within the definition in Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). A subunit is a separate, smaller body created by a parent body and composed exclusively of members of the parent body. 74 Op. Att'y Gen. 38, 40 (1985). If, for example, a fifteen member county board appoints a committee consisting of five members of the county board, that committee would be considered a "subunit" subject to the open meetings law. This is true despite the fact that the five-person committee would be smaller than a quorum of the county board. Even a committee with only two members is considered a “subunit,” as is a committee that is only advisory and that has no power to make binding decisions. Dziki Correspondence, December 12, 2006.

Groups that include both members and non-members of a parent body are not “subunits” of the parent body. Such groups nonetheless frequently fit within the definition of a “governmental body”—e.g., as advisory groups to the governmental bodies or government officials that created them.

c. State Legislature.

Generally speaking, the open meetings law applies to the state Legislature, including the senate, assembly, and any committees or subunits of those bodies. Wis. Stat. § 19.87. The law does not apply to any partisan caucus of the senate or assembly. Wis. Stat. § 19.87(3). The open meetings law also does not apply where it conflicts with a rule of the Legislature, senate, or assembly. Wis. Stat. § 19.87(2). Additional restrictions are set forth in Wis. Stat. § 19.87.

d. Governmental or quasi-governmental corporations.

The definition of “governmental body” also includes a “governmental or quasi-governmental corporation,” except for the Bradley sports center corporation. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). The term “governmental corporation” is not defined in either the statutes or the case law interpreting the statutes. It is clear, however, that a “governmental corporation” must at least include a corporation established for some public purpose and created directly by the state Legislature or by some other governmental body pursuant to specific statutory authorization or direction. See 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 113, 115 (1977).

The term “quasi-governmental corporation” also is not defined in the statutes, but its definition was recently discussed by the Wisconsin Supreme Court in State v. Beaver Dam Area Dev. Corp. (“BDADC”), 2008 WI 90, 312 Wis. 2d 84, 752 N.W.2d 295. In that decision, the Court held that a “quasi-governmental corporation” does not have to be created by the government or per se governmental, but rather is a corporation that significantly resembles a governmental corporation in function, effect, or status. Id., ¶¶ 33-36. The Court further held that each case must be decided on its own particular facts, under the totality of the circumstances and set forth a non-exhaustive list of factors to be examined in determining whether a particular corporation sufficiently resembles a governmental corporation to be deemed quasi-governmental, while emphasizing that no single factor is outcome determinative. Id., ¶¶ 7-8, 63 n.14, and 79. The factors set out by the Court in BDADC fall into five basic categories: (1) the extent to which the private corporation is supported by public funds; (2) whether the private corporation serves a public function and, if so, whether it also has other, private functions; (3) whether the private corporation appears in its public presentations to be a governmental entity; (4) the extent to which the private corporation is subject to governmental control; and (5) the degree of access that government bodies have to the private corporation’s records. Id., ¶ 62.

In adopting this case-specific, multi-factored “function, effect or status” standard, the Wisconsin Supreme Court followed a 1991 Attorney General opinion. See 80 Op. Att’y Gen. 129, 135 (1991) (Milwaukee Economic Development Corporation, a Wis. Stat. ch. 181 corporation organized by two private citizens and one city employee, is a quasi-governmental corporation); see also Kowalczyk Correspondence, March 13, 2006 (non-stock, non-profit corporations established for the purpose of providing emergency medical or fire department services for participating municipalities are quasi-governmental corporations). Prior to 1991, however, Attorney General opinions on this subject emphasized some of the more formal aspects of quasi-governmental corporations. Those opinions should now be read in light of the BDADC decision. See 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 113 (volunteer fire department organized under Wis. Stat. ch. 181 is not a quasi-governmental corporation); 73 Op. Att’y Gen. 53 (1984) (Historic Sites Foundation organized under Wis. Stat. ch. 181 is not a quasi-governmental corporation); 74 Op. Att’y Gen. 38 (corporation established to provide financial support to public broadcasting stations organized under Wis. Stat. ch. 181 is not a quasi-governmental corporation). Geyer Correspondence, February 26, 1987 (Grant County Economic Development Corporation organized by private individuals under Wis. Stat. ch. 181 is not a quasi-governmental corporation, even though it serves a public purpose and receives more than fifty percent of its funding from public sources).

In March 2009, the Attorney General issued an informal opinion which analyzed the BDADC decision in greater detail and expressed the view that, out of the numerous factors discussed in that decision, particular weight should be given to whether a corporation serves a public function and has any private functions. I-02-09, March 19, 2009. When a private corporation contracts to perform certain services for a governmental body, the key considerations in determining whether the corporation becomes quasi-governmental are whether the corporation is performing a portion of the governmental body's public functions or whether the services provided by the corporation play an integral part in any stage—including the purely deliberative stage—of the governmental body's decision-making process. Id.

2. Entities that are not governmental bodies.

a. Governmental offices held by a single individual.

The open meetings law does not apply to a governmental department with only a single member. Plourde v. Habegger, 2006 WI App 147, 294 Wis. 2d 746, 720 N.W.2d 130. Because the term "body" connotes a group of individuals, a governmental office held by a single individual likewise is not a "governmental body" within the meaning of the open meetings law. Thus, the open meetings law does not apply to the office of coroner or to inquests conducted by the coroner. 67 Op. Att'y Gen. 250 (1978). Similarly, the Attorney General has concluded that the open meetings law does not apply to an administrative hearing conducted by an individual hearing examiner. Clifford Correspondence, December 2, 1980.

b. Bodies meeting for collective bargaining.

The definition of "governmental body" explicitly excludes bodies that are formed for or meeting for the purpose of collective bargaining with municipal or state employees under Wis. Stat. ch. 111. A body formed exclusively for the purpose of collective bargaining is not subject to the open meetings law. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). A body formed for other purposes, in addition to collective bargaining, is not subject to the open meetings law when conducting collective bargaining. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1). The Attorney General has, however, advised multi-purpose bodies to comply with the open meetings law, including the requirements for convening in closed session, when meeting for the purpose of forming negotiating strategies to be used in collective bargaining. 66 Op. Att'y Gen. 93, 96-97 (1977). The collective bargaining exclusion does not permit any body to consider the final ratification or approval of a collective bargaining agreement in closed session. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(3).

c. Bodies created by the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has held that bodies created by the Court, pursuant to its superintending control over the administration of justice, are not governed by the open meetings law. State ex rel. Lynch v. Dancey, 71 Wis. 2d 287, 238 N.W.2d 81 (1976). Thus, generally speaking, the open meetings law does not apply to the Court or bodies created by the Court. In the Lynch case, for example, the Court held that the former open meetings law, Wis. Stat. § 66.77(1) (1973), did not apply to the Wisconsin Judicial Commission, which is responsible for handling misconduct complaints against judges. Similarly, the Attorney General has indicated that the open meetings law does not apply to: the Board of Attorneys Professional Responsibility, OAG 67-79 (July 31, 1979) (unpublished opinion); the Board of Bar Examiners, Kosobucki Correspondence, September 6, 2006; or the monthly judicial administration meetings of circuit court judges, conducted under the authority of the Court's superintending power over the judiciary. Constantine Correspondence, February 28, 2000.

d. Ad hoc gatherings.

Although the definition of a governmental body is broad, some gatherings are too loosely constituted to fit the definition. Thus, Conta holds that the directive that creates the body must also “confer[] collective power and define[] when it exists.” 71 Wis. 2d at 681. Showers adds the further requirement that a “meeting” of a governmental body takes place only if there are a sufficient number of members present to determine the governmental body’s course of action. 135 Wis. 2d at 102. In order to determine whether a sufficient number of members are present to determine a governmental body’s course of action, the membership of the body must be numerically definable. The Attorney General’s Office thus has concluded that a loosely constituted group of citizens and local officials instituted by the mayor to discuss various issues related to a dam closure was not a governmental body, because no rule or order defined the group’s membership, and no provision existed for the group to exercise collective power. Godlewski Correspondence, September 24, 1998.

The definition of a “governmental body” is only rarely satisfied when groups of a governmental unit’s employees gather on a subject within the unit’s jurisdiction. Thus, for example, the Attorney General concluded that the predecessor of the current open meetings law did not apply when a department head met with some or even all of his or her staff. 57 Op. Att’y Gen. 213, 216 (1968). Similarly, the Attorney General’s Office has advised that the courts would be unlikely to conclude that meetings between the administrators of a governmental agency and the agency’s employees, or between governmental employees and representatives of a governmental contractor were “governmental bodies” subject to the open meetings law. Peplnjak Correspondence, June 8, 1998. However, where an already-existing numerically definable group of employees of a governmental entity are assigned by the entity’s chief administrative officer to prepare recommendations for the entity’s policy-making board, the group’s meetings with respect to the subject of the directive are subject to the open meetings law. Tylka Correspondence, June 8, 2005.

B. Definition Of “Meeting.”

A “meeting” is defined as:

[T]he convening of members of a governmental body for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body. If one-half or more of the members of a governmental body are present, the meeting is rebuttably presumed to be for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body. The term does not include any social or chance gathering or conference which is not intended to avoid this subchapter

Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2). The statute then excepts the following: an inspection of a public works project or highway by a town board; or inspection of a public works project by a town sanitary district; or the supervision, observation, or collection of information about any drain or structure related to a drain by any drainage board. Id.

1. The Showers test.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has held that the above statutory definition of a “meeting” applies whenever a convening of members of a governmental body satisfies two requirements: (1) there is a purpose to engage in governmental business and (2) the number of members present is sufficient to determine the governmental body’s course of action. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d at 102.

a. The purpose requirement.

The first part of the Showers test focuses on the purpose for which the members of the governmental body are gathered. They must be gathered to conduct governmental business. Showers stressed that “governmental business” refers to any formal or informal action, including discussion, decision or information gathering, on matters within the governmental body’s realm of authority. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d at 102-03. Thus, in Badke, 173 Wis. 2d at 572-74, the Wisconsin Supreme Court held that the village board conducted a “meeting,” as defined in the open meetings law, when a quorum of the board regularly attended each plan commission meeting to observe the commission’s proceedings on a development plan that was subject to the board’s approval. The Court stressed that a governmental body is engaged in governmental business when its members gather to simply hear information on a matter within the body’s realm of authority. Id. at 573-74. The members need not actually discuss the matter or otherwise interact with one another to be engaged in governmental business. Id. at 574-76. The Court also held that the gathering of town board members was not chance or social because a majority of town board members attended plan commission meetings with regularity. Id. at 576. In contrast, the Court of Appeals concluded in Paulton v. Volkmann, 141 Wis. 2d 370, 375-77, 415 N.W.2d 528 (Ct. App. 1987), that no meeting occurred where a quorum of school board members attended a gathering of town residents, but did not collect information on a subject the school board had the potential to decide.

b. The numbers requirement.

The second part of the Showers test requires that the number of members present be sufficient to determine the governmental body’s course of action on the business under consideration. People often assume that this means that the open meetings law applies only to gatherings of a majority of the members of a governmental body. That is not the case because the power to control a body’s course of action can refer either to the affirmative power to pass a proposal or the negative power to defeat a proposal. Therefore, a gathering of one-half of the members of a body, or even fewer, may be enough to control a course of action if it is enough to block a proposal. This is called a “negative quorum.”

Typically, governmental bodies operate under a simple majority rule in which a margin of one vote is necessary for the body to pass a proposal. Under that approach, exactly one-half of the members of the body constitutes a “negative quorum” because that number against a proposal is enough to prevent the formation of a majority in its favor. Under simple majority rule, therefore, the open meetings law applies whenever one-half or more of the members of the governmental body gather to discuss or act on matters within the body’s realm of authority.

The size of a “negative quorum” may be smaller, however, when a governmental body operates under a super majority rule. For example, if a two-thirds majority is required for a body to pass a measure, then any gathering of more than one-third of the body’s members would be enough to control the body’s course of action by blocking the formation of a two-thirds majority. Showers made it clear that the open meetings law applies to such gatherings, as long as the purpose requirement is also satisfied (i.e., the gathering is for the purpose of conducting governmental business). Showers, 135 Wis. 2d at 101-02. If a three-fourths majority is required to pass a measure, then more than one-fourth of the members would constitute a “negative quorum,” etc.

2. Convening of members.

When the members of a governmental body conduct official business while acting separately, without communicating with each other or engaging in other collective action, there is no meeting within the meaning of the open meetings law. Katayama Correspondence, January 20, 2006. Nevertheless, the phrase “convening of members” in Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2) is not limited to situations in which members of a body are simultaneously gathered in the same location, but may also include other situations in which members are able to effectively communicate with each other and to exercise the authority vested in the body, even if they are not physically present together. Whether such a situation qualifies as a “convening of members” under the open meetings law depends on the extent to which the communications in question resemble a face-to-face exchange.

a. Written correspondence.

The circulation of a paper or hard copy memorandum among the members of a governmental body, for example, may involve a largely one-way flow of information, with any exchanges spread out over a considerable period of time and little or no conversation-like interaction among members. Accordingly, the Attorney General has long taken the position that such written communications generally do not constitute a “convening of members” for purposes of the open meetings law. Merkel Correspondence, March 11, 1993. Although the rapid evolution of electronic media has made the distinction between written and oral communication less sharp than it once appeared, it is still unlikely that a Wisconsin court would conclude that the circulation of a document through the postal service, or by other means of paper or hard-copy delivery, could be deemed a “convening” or “gathering” of the members of a governmental body for purposes of the open meetings law.

b. Telephone conference calls.

A telephone conference call, in contrast, is very similar to an in-person conversation and thus qualifies as a convening of members. 69 Op. Att’y Gen. 143 (1980). Under the Showers test, therefore, the open meetings law applies to any conference call that: (1) is for the purpose of conducting governmental business and (2) involves a sufficient number of members of the body to determine the body’s course of action on the business under consideration. To comply with the law, a governmental body conducting a meeting by telephone conference call must provide the public with an effective means to monitor the conference. This may be accomplished by broadcasting the conference through speakers located at one or more sites open to the public. 69 Op. Att’y Gen. 143, 145.

c. Electronic communications.

Written communications transmitted by electronic means, such as email or instant messaging, also may constitute a “convening of members,” depending on how the communication medium is used. Although no Wisconsin court has applied the open meetings law to these kinds of electronic communications, it is likely that the courts will try to determine whether the communications in question are more like an in-person discussion—e.g., a rapid back-and-forth exchange of viewpoints among multiple members—or more like non-electronic written correspondence, which generally does not raise open meetings law concerns. If the communications closely resemble an in-person discussion, then they may constitute a meeting if they involve enough members to control an action by the body. Krischan Correspondence, October 3, 2000. In addressing these questions, courts are likely to consider such factors as the following: (1) the number of participants involved in the communications; (2) the number of communications regarding the subject; (3) the time frame within which the electronic communications occurred; and (4) the extent of the conversation-like interactions reflected in the communications.

Because the applicability of the open meetings law to such electronic communications depends on the particular way in which a specific message technology is used, these technologies create special dangers for governmental officials trying to comply with the law. Although two members of a governmental body larger than four members may generally discuss the body’s business without violating the open meetings law, features like “forward” and “reply to all” common in electronic mail programs deprive a sender of control over the number and identity of the recipients who eventually may have access to the sender’s message. Moreover, it is quite possible that, through the use of electronic mail, a quorum of a governmental body may receive information on a subject within the body’s jurisdiction in an almost real-time basis, just as they would receive it in a physical gathering of the members.

Inadvertent violations of the open meetings law through the use of electronic communications can be reduced if electronic mail is used principally to transmit information one-way to a body’s membership; if the originator of the message reminds recipients to reply only to the originator, if at all; and if message recipients are scrupulous about minimizing the content and distribution of their replies. Nevertheless, because of the absence of judicial guidance on the subject, and because electronic mail creates the risk that it will be used to carry on private debate and discussion on matters that belong at public meetings subject to public scrutiny, the Attorney General’s Office strongly discourages the members of every governmental body from using electronic mail to communicate about issues within the body’s realm of authority. Krischan Correspondence, October 3, 2000; Benson Correspondence, March 12, 2004. Members of a governmental body may not decide matters by email voting, even if the result of the vote is later ratified at a properly noticed meeting. 1-01-10, January 25, 2010.

3. Walking quorums.

The requirements of the open meetings law also extend to walking quorums. A “walking quorum” is a series of gatherings among separate groups of members of a governmental body, each less than quorum size, who agree, tacitly or explicitly, to act uniformly in sufficient number to reach a quorum. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d at 92, quoting Conta, 71 Wis. 2d at 687. In Conta, the Court recognized the danger that a walking quorum may produce a predetermined outcome and thus render the publicly-held meeting a mere formality. Conta, 71 Wis. 2d at 685-88. The Court commented that any attempt to avoid the appearance of a “meeting” through use of a walking quorum is subject to prosecution under the open meetings law. Conta, 71 Wis. 2d at 687. The requirements of the open meetings law thus cannot be circumvented by using an agent or surrogate to poll the members of governmental bodies through a series of individual contacts. Such a circumvention “almost certainly” violates the open meetings law. Clifford Correspondence, April 28, 1986; see also Herbst Correspondence, July 16, 2008 (use of administrative staff to individually poll a quorum of members regarding how they would vote on a proposed motion at a future meeting is a prohibited walking quorum).

The essential feature of a “walking quorum” is the element of agreement among members of a body to act uniformly in sufficient numbers to reach a quorum. Where there is no such express or tacit agreement, exchanges among separate groups of members may take place without violating the open meetings law. The signing, by members of a body, of a document asking that a subject be placed on the agenda of an upcoming meeting thus does not constitute a “walking quorum” where the signers have not engaged in substantive discussion or agreed on a uniform course of action regarding the proposed subject. Kay Correspondence, April 25, 2007; Kittleson Correspondence, June 13, 2007. In contrast, where a majority of members of a body sign a document that expressly commits them to a future course of action, a court could find a walking quorum violation. Huff Correspondence, January 15, 2008; see also I-01-10, January 25, 2010 (use of email voting to decide matters fits the definition of a “walking quorum” violation of the open meetings law).

4. Multiple meetings.

When a quorum of the members of one governmental body attend a meeting of another governmental body under circumstances where their attendance is not chance or social, in order to gather information or otherwise engage in governmental business regarding a subject over which they have decision-making responsibility, two separate meetings occur, and notice must be given of both meetings. Badke, 173 Wis. 2d at 577. The Attorney General has advised that, despite the “separate public notice” requirement of Wis. Stat. § 19.84(4), a single notice can be used, provided that the notice clearly and plainly indicates that a joint meeting will be held and gives the names of each of the bodies involved, and provided that the notice is published and/or posted in each place where meeting notices are generally published or posted for each governmental body involved. Friedman Correspondence, March 4, 2003.

The kinds of multiple meetings presented in the Badke case, and the separate meeting notices required there, must be distinguished from circumstances where a subunit of a parent body meets during a recess from or immediately following the parent body’s meeting, to discuss or act on a matter that was the subject of the parent body’s meeting. In such circumstances, Wis. Stat. § 19.84(6) allows the subunit to meet on that matter without prior public notice.

5. Burden of proof as to existence of a meeting.

The presence of members of a governmental body does not, in itself, establish the existence of a “meeting” subject to the open meetings law. The law provides, however, that if one-half or more of the members of a body are present, the gathering is presumed to be a “meeting.” Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2). The law also exempts any “social or chance gathering” not intended to circumvent the requirements of the open meetings law. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(2). Thus, where one-half or more of the members of a governmental body rode to a meeting in the same vehicle, the law presumes that the members conducted a “meeting” which was subject to all of the requirements of the open meetings law. Karstens Correspondence, July 31, 2008. Similarly, where a majority of members of a common council gathered at a lounge immediately following a common council meeting, a violation of the open meetings law was presumed. Dieck Correspondence, September 12, 2007. The members of the governmental body may overcome the presumption by proving that they did not discuss any subject that was within the realm of the body's authority. Id.

Where a person alleges that a gathering of less than one-half the members of a governmental body was held in violation of the open meetings law, that person has the burden of proving that the gathering constituted a "meeting" subject to the law. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d at 102. That burden may be satisfied by proving: (1) that the members gathered to conduct governmental business and (2) that there was a sufficient number of members present to determine the body's course of action.

Again, it is important to remember that the overriding policy of the open meetings law is to ensure public access to information about governmental affairs. Under the rule of liberally construing the law to ensure this purpose, any doubts as to whether a particular gathering constitutes a "meeting" subject to the open meetings law should be resolved in favor of complying with the provisions of the law.

III. WHAT IS REQUIRED IF THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW APPLIES?

The two most basic requirements of the open meetings law are that a governmental body:

- (1) give advance public notice of each of its meetings, and
- (2) conduct all of its business in open session, unless an exemption to the open session requirement applies.

Wis. Stat. § 19.83.

A. Notice Requirements.

Wisconsin Stat. § 19.84, which sets forth the public notice requirements, specifies when, how, and to whom notice must be given, as well as what information a notice must contain.

1. To whom and how notice must be given.

The chief presiding officer of a governmental body, or the officer's designee, must give notice of each meeting of the body to: (1) the public; (2) any members of the news media who have submitted a written request for notice; and (3) the official newspaper designated pursuant to state statute or, if none exists, a news medium likely to give notice in the area. Wis. Stat. § 19.84(1).

The chief presiding officer may give notice of a meeting to the public by posting the notice in one or more places likely to be seen by the general public. 66 Op. Att'y Gen. 93, 95. As a general rule, the Attorney General has advised posting notices at three different locations within the jurisdiction that the governmental body serves. Id. Alternatively, the chief presiding officer may give notice to the public by paid publication in a news medium likely to give notice in the jurisdictional area the body serves. 63 Op. Att'y Gen. 509, 510-11 (1974). If the presiding officer gives notice in this manner, he or she must ensure that the notice is actually published. Meeting notices may also be posted at a governmental body's website as a supplement to other public notices, but web posting should not be used as a substitute for other methods of notice. Peck Correspondence, April 17, 2006. Nothing in the open meetings law prevents a governmental body from determining that multiple notice methods are necessary to provide adequate public notice of the body's meetings. Skindrud Correspondence, March 12, 2009. If a meeting notice is posted on a governmental body's website, amendments to the notice should also be posted. Eckert Correspondence, July 25, 2007.

The chief presiding officer must also give notice of each meeting to members of the news media who have submitted a written request for notice. Lawton, 278 Wis. 2d 388, ¶ 7. Although this notice may be given in writing or by telephone, 65 Op. Att’y Gen. Preface, v-vi (1976), it is preferable to give notice in writing to help ensure accuracy and so that a record of the notice exists. 65 Op. Att’y Gen. 250, 251 (1976). Governmental bodies cannot charge the news media for providing statutorily required notices of public meetings. 77 Op. Att’y Gen. 312, 313 (1988).

In addition, the chief presiding officer must give notice to the officially designated newspaper or, if none exists, to a news medium likely to give notice in the area. Lawton, 278 Wis. 2d 388, ¶ 7. The governmental body is not required to pay for and the newspaper is not required to publish such notice. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 230, 231 (1977). Note, however, that the requirement to provide notice to the officially designated newspaper is distinct from the requirement to provide notice to the public. If the chief presiding officer chooses to provide notice to the public by paid publication in a news medium, the officer must ensure that the notice is in fact published.

When a specific statute prescribes the type of meeting notice a governmental body must give, the body must comply with the requirements of that statute as well as the notice requirements of the open meetings law. Wis. Stat. § 19.84(1)(a). However, violations of those other statutory requirements are not redressable under the open meetings law. For example, the open meetings law is not implicated by a municipality’s alleged failure to comply with the public notice requirements of Wis. Stat. ch. 985 when providing published notice of public hearings on proposed tax incremental financing districts. See Boyle Correspondence, May 4, 2005. Where a class 1 notice under Wis. Stat. ch. 985 has been published, however, the public notice requirement of the open meetings law is also thereby satisfied. Stalle Correspondence, April 10, 2008.

2. Contents of notice.

a. In general.

Every public notice of a meeting must give the “time, date, place and subject matter of the meeting, including that intended for consideration at any contemplated closed session, in such form as is reasonably likely to apprise members of the public and the news media thereof.” Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2). The chief presiding officer of the governmental body is responsible for providing notice, and when he or she is aware of matters which may come before the body, those matters must be included in the meeting notice. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 68, 70 (1977). The Attorney General’s Office has advised that a chief presiding officer may not avoid liability for a legally deficient meeting notice by assigning to a non-member of the body the responsibility to create and provide a notice that complies with Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2). Schuh Correspondence, October 17, 2001.

A frequently recurring question is how specific a subject-matter description in a meeting notice must be. Prior to June 13, 2007, this question was governed by the “bright-line” rule articulated in State ex rel. H.D. Ent. v. City of Stoughton, 230 Wis. 2d 480, 602 N.W.2d 72 (Ct. App. 1999). Under that standard, a meeting notice adequately described a subject if it identified “the general topic of items to be discussed” and the simple heading “licenses,” without more, was found sufficient to apprise the public that a city council would reconsider a previous decision to deny a liquor license to a particular local grocery store. Id. at 486-87.

On June 13, 2007, the Wisconsin Supreme Court overruled H.D. Enterprises and announced a new standard to be applied prospectively to all meeting notices issued after that date. State ex rel. Buswell v. Tomah Area Sch. Dist., 2007 WI 71, 301 Wis. 2d 178, 732 N.W.2d 804. In Buswell, the Court determined that “the plain meaning of Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2) sets forth a reasonableness standard, and that such a standard strikes the proper balance contemplated in Wis. Stat. §§ 19.81(1) and (4) between the public’s right to information and the government’s need to efficiently conduct its business.” Id., ¶ 3. This reasonableness standard “requires a case-specific analysis” and “whether notice is sufficiently specific will depend upon what is reasonable under the circumstances.” Id., ¶ 22. In making that determination, the factors to be considered include: “[1] the burden of providing more detailed notice, [2] whether the subject is of particular public interest, and [3] whether it involves non-routine action that the public would be unlikely to anticipate.” Id., ¶ 28 (bracketed references added).

The first factor “balances the policy of providing greater information with the requirement that providing such information be ‘compatible with the conduct of governmental affairs.’ Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1).” Id., ¶ 29. The determination must be made on a case-by-case basis. Id. “[T]he demands of specificity should not thwart the efficient administration of governmental business.” Id.

The second factor takes into account “both the number of people interested and the intensity of that interest,” though the level of interest is not dispositive, and must be balanced with other factors on a case-by-case basis. Id., ¶ 30.

The third factor considers “whether the subject of the meeting is routine or novel.” Id., ¶ 31. There may be less need for specificity where a meeting subject occurs routinely, because members of the public are more likely to anticipate that the subject will be addressed. Id. “Novel issues may . . . require more specific notice.” Id.

Whether a meeting notice is reasonable, according to the Court, “cannot be determined from the standpoint of when the meeting actually takes place,” but rather must be “based upon what information is available to the officer noticing the meeting at the time the notice is provided, and based upon what it would be reasonable for the officer to know.” Id., ¶ 32. Once reasonable notice has been given, “meeting participants would be free to discuss any aspect of the noticed subject matter, as well as issues that are reasonably related to it.” Id., ¶ 34. However, “a meeting cannot address topics unrelated to the information in the notice.” Id. The Attorney General has similarly advised, in an informal opinion, that if a meeting notice contains a general subject matter designation and a subject that was not specifically noticed comes up at the meeting, a governmental body should refrain from engaging in any information gathering or discussion or from taking any action that would deprive the public of information about the conduct of governmental business. I-05-93, April 26, 1993.

Whether a meeting notice reasonably apprises the public of the meeting’s subject matter may also depend in part on the surrounding circumstances. A notice that might be adequate, standing alone, may nonetheless fail to provide reasonable notice if it is accompanied by other statements or actions that expressly contradict it, or if the notice is misleading when considered in the light of long-standing policies of the governmental body. Linde Correspondence, May 4, 2007; Koss Correspondence, May 30, 2007; Musolf Correspondence, July 13, 2007; Martinson Correspondence, March 2, 2009.

In order to draft a meeting notice that complies with the reasonableness standard, a good rule of thumb will be to ask whether a person interested in a specific subject would be aware, upon reading the notice, that the subject might be discussed.

b. Generic agenda items.

Purely generic subject matter designations such as “old business,” “new business,” “miscellaneous business,” “agenda revisions,” or “such other matters as are authorized by law” are insufficient because, standing alone, they identify no particular subjects at all. Becker Correspondence, November 30, 2004; Heupel Correspondence, August 29, 2006. Similarly, the use of a notice heading that merely refers to an earlier meeting of the governmental body (or of some other body) without identifying any particular subject of discussion is so lacking in informational value that it almost certainly fails to give the public reasonable notice of what the governmental body intends to discuss. Erickson Correspondence, April 22, 2009. If such a notice is meant to indicate an intent to simply receive and approve minutes of the designated meeting, it should so indicate and discussion should be limited to whether the minutes accurately reflect the substance of that meeting. Id.

Likewise, the Attorney General has advised that the practice of using such designations as “mayor comments,” “alderman comments,” or “staff comments” for the purpose of communicating information on matters within the scope of the governmental body’s authority “is, at best, at the outer edge of lawful practice, and may well cross the line to become unlawful.” Rude Correspondence, March 5, 2004. Because members and officials of governmental bodies have greater opportunities for input into the agenda-setting process than the public has, they should be held to a higher standard of specificity regarding the subjects they intend to address. Thompson Correspondence, September 3, 2004.

c. Action agenda items.

The Wisconsin Court of Appeals has noted that “Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2) does not expressly require that the notice indicate whether a meeting will be purely deliberative or if action will be taken.” State ex rel. Olson v. City of Baraboo, 2002 WI App 64, ¶ 15, 252 Wis. 2d 628, 643 N.W.2d 796. The Buswell decision inferred from this that “adequate notice . . . may not require information about whether a vote on a subject will occur, so long as the subject matter of the vote is adequately specified.” Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 37 n.7. Both in Olson and in Buswell, however, the courts reiterated the principle—first recognized in Badke, 173 Wis. 2d at 573-74 and 577-78—that the information in the notice must be sufficient to alert the public to the importance of the meeting, so that they can make an informed decision whether to attend. Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 26; Olson, 252 Wis. 2d 628, ¶ 15. The Olson decision thus acknowledged that, in some circumstances, a failure to expressly state whether action will be taken at a meeting could be a violation of the open meetings law. Id. Although the courts have not articulated the specific standard to apply to this question, it appears to follow from Buswell that the test would be whether, under the particular factual circumstances of the case, the notice reasonably alerts the public to the importance of the meeting. Herbst Correspondence, July 16, 2008.

Another frequently asked question is whether a governmental body may act on a motion for reconsideration of a matter voted on at a previous meeting, if the motion is brought under a general subject matter designation. The Attorney General has advised that a member may move for reconsideration under a general subject matter designation, but that any discussion or action on the motion should be set over to a later meeting for which specific notice of the subject matter of the motion is given. Bukowski Correspondence, May 5, 1986.

d. Notice of closed sessions.

The notice provision in Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2) requires that if the chief presiding officer or the officer’s designee knows at the time he or she gives notice of a meeting that a closed session is contemplated, the notice must contain the subject matter to be considered in closed session. Such notice “must contain enough information for the public to discern whether the subject matter is authorized for closed session under § 19.85(1).” Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 37 n.7. The Attorney General has advised that notice of closed sessions must contain the specific nature of the business, as well as the exemption(s) under which the chief presiding officer believes a closed session is authorized. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 93, 98. Merely identifying and quoting from a statutory exemption does not reasonably identify any particular subject that might be taken up thereunder and thus is not adequate notice of a closed session. Weinschenk Correspondence, December 29, 2006; Anderson Correspondence, February 13, 2007. In State ex rel. Schaeve v. Van Lare, 125 Wis. 2d 40, 47, 370 N.W.2d 271 (Ct. App. 1985), the Court held that a notice to convene in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(b) “to conduct a hearing to consider the possible discipline of a public employee” was sufficient.

3. Time of notice.

The provision in Wis. Stat. § 19.84(3) requires that every public notice of a meeting be given at least twenty-four hours in advance of the meeting, unless “for good cause” such notice is “impossible or impractical.” If “good cause” exists, the notice should be given as soon as possible and must be given at least two hours in advance of the meeting. Wis. Stat. § 19.84(3).

No Wisconsin court decisions or Attorney General opinions discuss what constitutes “good cause” to provide less than twenty-four-hour notice of a meeting. This provision, like all other provisions of the open meetings law, must be construed in favor of providing the public with the fullest and most complete information about governmental affairs as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business. Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1) and (4). If there is any doubt whether “good cause” exists, the governmental body should provide the full twenty-four-hour notice.

When calculating the twenty-four hour notice period, Wis. Stat. § 990.001(4)(a) requires that Sundays and legal holidays shall be excluded. Posting notice of a Monday meeting on the preceding Sunday is, therefore, inadequate, but posting such notice on the preceding Saturday would suffice, as long as the posting location is open to the public on Saturdays. Caylor Correspondence, December 6, 2007.

Wisconsin Stat. § 19.84(4) provides that separate notice for each meeting of a governmental body must be given at a date and time reasonably close to the meeting date. A single notice that lists all the meetings that a governmental body plans to hold over a given week, month, or year does not comply with the notice requirements of the open meetings law. See 63 Op. Att’y Gen. 509, 513. Similarly, a meeting notice that states that a quorum of various town governmental bodies may participate at the same time in a multi-month, on-line discussion of town issues fails to satisfy the “separate notice” requirement. Connors/Haag Correspondence, May 26, 2009.

University of Wisconsin departments and their subunits, as well as the Olympic ice training rink, are exempt from the specific notice requirements in Wis. Stat. § 19.84(1)-(4). Those bodies are simply required to provide notice “which is reasonably likely to apprise interested persons, and news media who have filed written requests for such notice.” Wis. Stat. § 19.84(5). Also exempt from the specific notice requirements are certain meetings of subunits of parent bodies held during or immediately before or after a meeting of the parent body. See Wis. Stat. § 19.84(6).

4. Compliance with notice.

A governmental body, when conducting a meeting, is free to discuss any aspect of any subject identified in the public notice of that meeting, as well as issues reasonably related to that subject, but may not address any topics that are not reasonably related to the information in the notice. Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 34. There is no requirement, however, that a governmental body must follow the agenda in the order listed on the meeting notice, unless a particular agenda item has been noticed for a specific time. Stencil Correspondence, March 6, 2008. Nor is a governmental body required to actually discuss every item contained in the public notice. It is reasonable, in appropriate circumstances, for a body to cancel a previously planned discussion or postpone it to a later date. Black Correspondence, April 22, 2009.

B. Open Session Requirements.

1. Accessibility.

In addition to requiring advance public notice of every meeting of a governmental body, the open meetings law also requires that “all meetings of all state and local governmental bodies shall be publicly held in places reasonably accessible to members of the public and shall be open to all citizens at all times.” Wis. Stat. § 19.81(2). Similarly, an “open session” is defined in Wis. Stat. § 19.82(3) as “a meeting which is held in a place reasonably accessible to members of the public and open to all citizens at all times.” Every meeting of a governmental body must initially be convened in “open session.” See Wis. Stat. §§ 19.83 and 19.85(1). All business of any kind, formal or informal, must be initiated, discussed, and acted upon in “open session,” unless one of the exemptions set forth in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) applies. Wis. Stat. § 19.83.

The requirement that meeting locations be reasonably accessible to the public and open to all citizens at all times means that governmental bodies must hold their meetings in rooms that are reasonably calculated to be large enough to accommodate all citizens who wish to attend the meetings. Badke, 173 Wis. 2d at 580-81. Absolute access is not, however, required. Id. In Badke, for instance, the Wisconsin Supreme Court concluded that a village board meeting that was held in a village hall capable of holding 55-75 people was reasonably accessible, although three members of the public were turned away due to overcrowding. Id. at 561, 563, 581. Whether a meeting place is reasonably accessible depends on the facts in each individual case. Any doubt as to whether a meeting facility is large enough to satisfy the requirement should be resolved in favor of holding the meeting in a larger facility.

The policy of openness and accessibility favors governmental bodies holding their meetings in public places, such as a municipal hall or school, rather than on private premises. See 67 Op. Att’y Gen. 125, 127 (1978). The law prohibits meetings on private premises that are not open and reasonably accessible to the public. Wis. Stat. § 19.82(3). Generally speaking, places such as a private room in a restaurant or a dining room in a private club are not considered “reasonably accessible.” A governmental body should meet on private premises only in exceptional cases, where the governmental body has a specific reason for doing so which does not compromise the public’s right to information about governmental affairs.

The policy of openness and accessibility also requires that governmental bodies hold their meetings at locations near to the public they serve. Accordingly, the Attorney General has concluded that a school board meeting held forty miles from the district which the school board served was not “reasonably accessible” within the meaning of the open meetings law. Miller Correspondence, May 25, 1977. The Attorney General advises that, in order to comply with the “reasonably accessible” requirement, governmental bodies should conduct all their meetings at a location within the territory they serve, unless there are special circumstances that make it impossible or impractical to do so. I-29-91, October 17, 1991.

Occasionally, a governmental body may need to leave the place where the meeting began in order to accomplish its business—e.g., inspection of a property or construction projects. The Attorney General’s Office has advised that such off-site business may be conducted consistently with the requirements of the open meetings law, as long as certain precautions are taken. First the public notice of the meeting must list all of the locations to be visited in the order in which they will be visited. This makes it possible for a member of the public to follow the governmental body to each location or to join the governmental body at any particular location. Second, each location at which government business is to be conducted must itself be reasonably accessible to the public at all times when such business is taking place. Third, care must be taken to ensure that government business is discussed only during those times when the members of the body are convened at one of the particular locations for which notice has been given. The members of the governmental body may travel together or separately, but if half or more of them travel together, they may not discuss government business when their vehicle is in motion, because a moving vehicle is not accessible to the public. Rappert Correspondence, April 8, 1993; Musolf Correspondence, July 13, 2007.

2. Access for persons with disabilities.

The public accessibility requirements of the open meetings law have long been interpreted by the Attorney General as meaning that every meeting subject to the law must be held in a location that is “reasonably accessible to all citizens, including those with disabilities.” 69 Op. Att’y Gen. 251, 252 (1980). In selecting a meeting facility that satisfies this requirement, a local governmental body has more leeway than does a state governmental body. For a state body, the facility must have physical characteristics that permit persons with functional limitations to enter, circulate, and leave the facility without assistance. See Wis. Stat. §§ 19.82(3) and 101.13(1); 69 Op. Att’y Gen. 251, 252. In the case of a local governmental body, however, a meeting facility must have physical characteristics that permit persons with functional limitations to enter, circulate, and leave the facility with assistance. 69 Op. Att’y Gen. 251, 253. In order to optimally comply with the spirit of open government, however, local bodies should also, whenever possible, meet in buildings and rooms that are accessible without assistance.

The Americans With Disabilities Act and other federal laws governing the rights of persons with disabilities may additionally require governmental bodies to meet accessibility and reasonable accommodation requirements that exceed the requirements imposed by Wisconsin’s open meetings law. For more detailed assistance regarding such matters, both government officials and members of the public are encouraged to consult with their own attorneys or to contact the appropriate federal enforcement authorities.

3. Tape recording and videotaping.

The open meetings law grants citizens the right to attend and observe meetings of governmental bodies that are held in open session. The open meetings law also grants citizens the right to tape record or videotape open session meetings, as long as doing so does not disrupt the meeting. The law explicitly states that a governmental body must make a reasonable effort to accommodate anyone who wants to record, film, or photograph an open session meeting, as long as the activity does not interfere with the meeting. Wis. Stat. § 19.90.

In contrast, the open meetings law does not require a governmental body to permit recording of an authorized closed session. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 318, 325 (1977); Maroney Correspondence, October 31, 2006. If a governmental body wishes to record its own closed meetings, it should arrange for the security of the records to prevent their improper disclosure. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 318, 325.

4. Citizen participation.

In general, the open meetings law grants citizens the right to attend and observe open session meetings of governmental bodies, but does not require a governmental body to allow members of the public to speak or actively participate in the body’s meeting. Lundquist Correspondence, October 25, 2005. There are some other state statutes that require governmental bodies to hold public hearings on specified matters. See for example, Wis. Stat. § 65.90(4) (requiring public hearing before adoption of a municipal budget) and Wis. Stat. § 66.46(4)(a) (requiring public hearing before creation of a tax incremental finance district). Unless such a statute specifically applies, however, a governmental body is free to determine for itself whether and to what extent it will allow citizen participation at its meetings. Zwieg Correspondence, July 13, 2006; Chiaverotti Correspondence, September 19, 2006.

Although it is not required, the open meetings law does permit a governmental body to set aside a portion of an open meeting as a public comment period. Wis. Stat. §§ 19.83(2) and 19.84(2). Such a period must be included on the meeting notice. During such a period, the body may receive information from the public and may discuss any matter raised by the public. If a member of the public raises a subject that does not appear on the meeting notice, however, it is advisable to limit the discussion of that subject and to defer any extensive deliberation to a later meeting for which more specific notice can be given. In addition, the body may not take formal action on a subject raised in the public comment period, unless that subject is also identified in the meeting notice.

5. Ballots, votes, and records, including meeting minutes.

No secret ballot may be used to determine any election or decision of a governmental body, except the election of officers of a body. Wis. Stat. § 19.88(1). For example, a body cannot vote by secret ballot to fill a vacancy on a city council. 65 Op. Att’y Gen. 131 (1976). If a member of a governmental body requests that the vote of each member on a particular matter be recorded, a voice vote or a vote by a show of hands is not permissible unless the vote is unanimous and the minutes reflect who is present for the vote. I-95-89, November 13, 1989. A governmental body may not use email ballots to decide matters, even if the result of the vote is later ratified at a properly noticed meeting. I-01-10, January 25, 2010.

The open meetings law requires a governmental body to create and preserve a record of all motions and roll-call votes at its meetings. Wis. Stat. § 19.88(3). This requirement applies to both open and closed sessions. De Moya Correspondence, June 17, 2009. Written minutes are the most common method used to comply with the requirement, but they are not the only permissible method. It can also be satisfied if the motions and roll-call votes are recorded and preserved in some other way, such as on a tape recording. I-95-89, November 13, 1989. As long as the body creates and preserves a record of all motions and roll-call votes, it is not required by the open meetings law to take more formal or detailed minutes of other aspects of the meeting. Other statutes outside the open meetings law, however, may prescribe particular minute-taking requirements for certain governmental bodies and officials that go beyond what is required by the open meetings law. I-20-89, March 8, 1989. See, e.g., Wis. Stat. §§ 59.23(2)(a) (county clerk); 60.33(2)(a) (town clerk); 61.25(3) (village clerk); 62.09(11)(b) (city clerk); 62.13(5)(i) (police and fire commission); 66.1001(4)(b) (plan commission); 70.47(7)(bb) (board of review).

Although Wis. Stat. § 19.88(3) does not indicate how detailed the record of motions and votes should be, the general legislative policy of the open meetings law is that “the public is entitled to the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business.” Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1). In light of that policy, it seems clear that a governmental body’s records should provide the public with a reasonably intelligible description of the essential substantive elements of every motion made, who initiated and seconded the motion, the outcome of any vote on the motion, and, if a roll-call vote, how each member voted. De Moya Correspondence, June 17, 2009.

Nothing in the open meetings law prohibits a body from making decisions by general consent, without a formal vote, but such informal procedures are typically only appropriate for routine procedural matters such as approving the minutes of prior meetings or adjourning. In any event, regardless of whether a decision is made by consensus or by some other method, Wis. Stat. § 19.88(3) still requires the body to create and preserve a meaningful record of that decision. Huebscher Correspondence, May 23, 2008. “Consent agendas,” whereby a body discusses individual items of business under separate agenda headings, but takes action on all discussed items by adopting a single motion to approve all the items previously discussed, are likely insufficient to satisfy the recordkeeping requirements of Wis. Stat. § 19.88(3). Perlick Correspondence, May 12, 2005.

Wisconsin Stat. § 19.88(3) also provides that meeting records created under that statute—whether for an open or a closed session—must be open to public inspection to the extent prescribed in the state public records law. Because the records law contains no general exemption for records created during a closed session, a custodian must release such items unless the particular record at issue is subject to a specific statutory exemption or the custodian concludes that the harm to the public from its release would outweigh the benefit to the public. De Moya Correspondence, June 17, 2009. There is a strong presumption under the public records law that release of records is in the public interest. As long as the reasons for convening in closed session continue to exist, however, the custodian may be able to justify not disclosing any information that requires confidentiality. But the custodian still must separate information that can be made public from that which cannot and must disclose the former, even if the latter can be withheld. In addition, once the underlying purpose for the closed session ceases to exist, all records of the session must then be provided to any person requesting them. See 67 Op. Att’y Gen. 117, 119 (1978).

IV. WHEN IS IT PERMISSIBLE TO CONVENE IN CLOSED SESSION?

Every meeting of a governmental body must initially be convened in open session. All business of any kind, formal or informal, must be initiated, discussed, and acted upon in open session unless one of the exemptions in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) applies. Wis. Stat. § 19.83.

A. Notice Of Closed Session.

The notice provision in Wis. Stat. § 19.84(2) requires that, if the chief presiding officer of a governmental body is aware that a closed session is contemplated at the time he or she gives public notice of the meeting, the notice must contain the subject matter of the closed session.⁴

⁴*See* section III.A.2.d. of this Guide for information on how to comply with this requirement.

If the chief presiding officer was not aware of a contemplated closed session at the time he or she gave notice of the meeting, that does not foreclose a governmental body from going into closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) to discuss an item contained in the notice for the open session. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 106, 108 (1977). In both cases, a governmental body must follow the procedure set forth in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) before going into closed session.

B. Procedure For Convening In Closed Session.

Every meeting of a governmental body must initially be convened in open session. Wis. Stat. §§ 19.83 and 19.85(1). Before convening in closed session, the governmental body must follow the procedure set forth in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) which requires that the governmental body pass a motion, by recorded majority vote, to convene in closed session. If a motion is unanimous, there is no requirement to record the votes individually. Schaeve, 125 Wis. 2d at 51. Before the governmental body votes on the motion, the chief presiding officer must announce and record in open session the nature of the business to be discussed and the specific statutory exemption which is claimed to authorize the closed session. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 93, 97-98. Stating only the statute section number of the applicable exemption is not sufficient because many exemptions contain more than one reason for authorizing closure. For example, Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) allows governmental bodies to use closed sessions to interview candidates for positions of employment, to consider promotions of particular employees, to consider the compensation of particular employees, and to conduct employee evaluations—each of which is a different reason that should be identified in the meeting notice and in the motion to convene into closed session. Reynolds/Kreibich Correspondence, October 23, 2003. Similarly, merely identifying and quoting from a statutory exemption does not adequately announce what particular part of the governmental body’s business is to be considered under that exemption. Weinschenk Correspondence, December 29, 2006; Anderson Correspondence, February 13, 2007. Enough specificity is needed in describing the subject matter of the contemplated closed meeting to enable the members of the governmental body to intelligently vote on the motion to close the meeting. Heule Correspondence, June 29, 1977; see also Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 37 n.7. If several exemptions are relied on to authorize a closed discussion of several subjects, the motion should make it clear which exemptions correspond to which subjects. Brisco Correspondence, December 13, 2005. The governmental body must limit its discussion in closed session to the business specified in the announcement. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1).

C. Authorized Closed Sessions.

Wisconsin Stat. § 19.85(1) contains thirteen exemptions to the open session requirement which permit, but do not require, a governmental body to convene in closed session. Because the law is designed to provide the public with the most complete information possible regarding the affairs of government, exemptions should be strictly construed. State ex rel. Hodge v. Turtle Lake, 180 Wis. 2d 62, 71, 508 N.W.2d 603 (1993); Citizens for Responsible Development, 300 Wis. 2d 649, ¶ 8. The policy of the open meetings law dictates that the exemptions be invoked sparingly and only where necessary to protect the public interest. If there is any doubt as to whether closure is permitted under a given exemption, the governmental body should hold the meeting in open session. See 74 Op. Att’y Gen. 70, 73 (1985).

The following are some of the most frequently cited exemptions.

1. Judicial or quasi-judicial hearings.

Wisconsin Stat. § 19.85(1)(a) authorizes a closed session for “[d]eliberating concerning a case which was the subject of any judicial or quasi-judicial trial or hearing before that governmental body.” In order for this exemption to apply, there must be a “case” that is the subject of a quasi-judicial proceeding. Hodge, 180 Wis. 2d at 72; cf. State ex rel. Cities S. O. Co. v. Bd. of Appeals, 21 Wis. 2d 516, 537, 124 N.W.2d 809 (1963) (allowing zoning appeal boards to deliberate in closed session after hearing, decided before the Legislature added the “case” requirement in 1977). The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that the term “case” contemplates a controversy among parties that are adverse to one another; it does not include a mere request for a permit. Hodge, 180 Wis. 2d at 74. An example of a governmental body that considers “cases” and thus can convene in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(a), where appropriate, is the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission, 68 Op. Att’y Gen. 171 (1979). Bodies that consider zoning appeals, such as boards of zoning appeals and boards of adjustment, may not convene in closed session. Wis. Stat. §§ 59.694(3) (towns); 60.65(5) (counties); and 62.23(7)(e)3. (cities); White Correspondence, May 1, 2009. The meetings of town, village, and city boards of review regarding appeals of property tax assessments must also be conducted in open session. Wis. Stat. § 70.47(2m).

2. Employment and licensing matters.

a. Consideration of dismissal, demotion, discipline, licensing, and tenure.

Two of the statutory exemptions to the open session requirement relate specifically to employment or licensing of an individual. The first, Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(b), authorizes a closed session for:

Considering dismissal, demotion, licensing or discipline of any public employee or person licensed by a board or commission or the investigation of charges against such person, or considering the grant or denial of tenure for a university faculty member, and the taking of formal action on any such matter

If a closed session for such a purpose will include an evidentiary hearing or final action, then the governmental body must give the public employee or licensee actual notice of that closed hearing and/or closed final action. Evidentiary hearings are characterized by the formal examination of charges and by taking testimony and receiving evidence in support or defense of specific charges that may have been made. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 211, 214 (1977). Such hearings may be required by statute, ordinance or rule, by collective bargaining agreement, or by circumstances in which the employee or licensee is the subject of charges that might damage the person’s good name, reputation, honor or integrity, or where the governmental body’s action might impose substantial stigma or disability upon the person. Id.

Where actual notice is required, the notice must state that the person has a right to request that any such evidentiary hearing or final action be conducted in open session. If the person makes such a request, the governmental body may not conduct an evidentiary hearing or take final action in closed session. The body may, however, convene in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(b) for the purpose of deliberating about the dismissal, demotion, licensing, discipline, or investigation of charges. Following such closed deliberations, the body may reconvene in open session and take final action related to the person’s employment or license. See State ex rel. Epping v. City of Neillsville, 218 Wis. 2d 516, 581 N.W.2d 548 (Ct. App. 1998); Johnson Correspondence, February 27, 2009.

Nothing in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) permits a person who is not a member of the governmental body to demand that the body meet in closed session. The Wisconsin Court of Appeals held that a governmental body was not required to comply with a public employee’s request that the body convene in closed session to vote on the employee’s dismissal. Schaeve, 125 Wis. 2d at 40.

b. Consideration of employment, promotion, compensation, and performance evaluations.

The second exemption which relates to employment matters authorizes a closed session for “[c]onsidering employment, promotion, compensation or performance evaluation data of any public employee over which the governmental body has jurisdiction or exercises responsibility.” Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c).

The Attorney General’s Office has interpreted this exemption to extend to public officers, such as a police chief, whom the governmental body has jurisdiction to employ. Caturia Correspondence, September 20, 1982. The Attorney General’s Office has also concluded that this exemption is sufficiently broad to authorize convening in closed session to interview and consider applicants for positions of employment. Caturia Correspondence, September 20, 1982.

An elected official is not considered a “public employee over which the governmental body has jurisdiction or exercises responsibility.” Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c). Thus, Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) does not authorize a county board to convene in closed session to consider appointments of county board members to a county board committee. 76 Op. Att’y Gen. 276 (1987). Similarly, the exemption does not authorize a school board to convene in closed session to select a person to fill a vacancy on the school board. 74 Op. Att’y Gen. 70, 72. The exemption does not authorize a county board or a board committee to convene in closed session for the purposes of screening and interviewing applicants to fill a vacancy in the elected office of county clerk. Haro Correspondence, June 13, 2003. Nor does the exemption authorize a city council or one of its committees to consider a temporary appointment of a municipal judge. O’Connell Correspondence, December 21, 2004.

The language of the exemption refers to a “public employee” rather than to positions of employment in general. The apparent purpose of the exemption is to protect individual employees from having their actions and abilities discussed in public and to protect governmental bodies “from potential lawsuits resulting from open discussion of sensitive information.” Oshkosh Northwestern Co. v. Oshkosh Library Bd., 125 Wis. 2d 480, 486, 373 N.W.2d 459 (Ct. App. 1985). It is not the purpose of the exemption to protect a governmental body when it discusses general policies that do not involve identifying specific employees. See 80 Op. Att’y Gen. 176, 177-78 (1992); see also Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 37 (noting that Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) “provides for closed sessions for considering matters related to individual employees”). Thus, Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) authorizes a closed session to discuss the qualifications of and salary to offer a specific applicant but does not authorize a closed session to discuss the qualifications and salary range for the position in general. 80 Op. Att’y Gen. 176, 178-82. The section authorizes closure to determine increases in compensation for specific employees, 67 Op. Att’y Gen. 117, 118. Similarly, Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(c) authorizes closure to determine which employees to lay off, or whether to non-renew an employee’s contract at the expiration of the contract term, see 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 211, 213, but not to determine whether to reduce or increase staffing, in general.

3. Consideration of financial, medical, social, or personal information.

The exemption in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(f) authorizes a closed session for:

Considering financial, medical, social or personal histories or disciplinary data of specific persons, preliminary consideration of specific personnel problems or the investigation of charges against specific persons except where par. (b) applies which, if discussed in public, would be likely to have a substantial adverse effect upon the reputation of any person referred to in such histories or data, or involved in such problems or investigations.

An example is where a state employee was alleged to have violated a state law. See Wis. State Journal v. U.W. Platteville, 160 Wis. 2d 31, 38, 465 N.W.2d 266 (Ct. App. 1990). This exemption is not limited to considerations involving public employees. For example, the Attorney General concluded that, in an exceptional case, a school board could convene in closed session under the exemption to interview a candidate to fill a vacancy on the school board if information is expected to damage a reputation, however, the vote should be in open session. 74 Op. Att’y Gen. 70, 72.

At the same time, the Attorney General cautioned that the exemption in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(f) is extremely limited. It applies only where a member of a governmental body has actual knowledge of information that will have a substantial adverse effect on the person mentioned or involved. Moreover, the exemption authorizes closure only for the duration of the discussions about the information specified in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(f). Thus, the exemption would not authorize a school board to actually appoint a new member to the board in closed session. 74 Op. Att’y Gen. 70, 72.

4. Conducting public business with competitive or bargaining implications.

A closed session is authorized for “[d]eliberating or negotiating the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.” Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e). This exemption is not limited to deliberating or negotiating the purchase of public property or the investing of public funds. For example, the Attorney General has determined that the exemption authorized a school board to convene in closed session to develop negotiating strategies for collective bargaining. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 93, 96. (The opinion advised that governmental bodies that are not formed exclusively for collective bargaining comply with the open meetings law when meeting for the purpose of developing negotiating strategy).

Governmental officials must keep in mind, however, that this exemption applies only when “competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.” Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e). The exemption is restrictive rather than expansive. Citizens for Responsible Development, 300 Wis. 2d 649, ¶¶ 6-8. When a governmental body seeks to convene in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e), the burden is on the body to show that competitive or bargaining interests require closure. Id., ¶ 10. An announcement of a contemplated closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e) that provides only a conclusory assertion that the subject of the session will involve competitive or bargaining issues is inadequate because it does not reflect how the proposed discussion would implicate the competitive or bargaining interests of the body or the body’s basis for concluding that the subject falls within the exemption. Wirth/Lamoreaux Correspondence, May 30, 2007.

The use of the word “require” in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e) limits that exemption to situations in which competitive or bargaining reasons leave a governmental body with no option other than to close the meeting. Citizens for Responsible Development, 300 Wis. 2d 649, ¶ 14. On the facts as presented in Citizens for Responsible Development, the Court thus found that a desire or request for confidentiality by a private developer engaged in negotiations with a city was not sufficient to justify a closed session for competitive or bargaining reasons. Id., ¶¶ 13-14. Nor did the fear that public statements might attract the attention of potential private competitors for the developer justify closure under this exemption, because the Court found that such competition would be likely to benefit, rather than harm, the city’s competitive or bargaining interests. Id., ¶ 14 n.6. Similarly, holding closed meetings about ongoing negotiations between the city and private parties would not prevent those parties from seeking a better deal elsewhere. The possibility of such competition, therefore, also did not justify closure under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e). Citizens for Responsible Development, 300 Wis. 2d 649, ¶¶ 15-16. The exemption did, however, allow the city to close those portions of its meetings that would reveal its negotiation strategy or the price it planned to offer for a purchase of property, but it could not close other parts of the meetings. Id., ¶ 19. The competitive or bargaining interests to be protected by a closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e) do not have to be shared by every member of the body or by every municipality participating in an intergovernmental body. State ex rel. Herro v. Village of McFarland, 2007 WI App 172, ¶¶ 16-19, 303 Wis. 2d 749, 737 N.W.2d 55.

Consistent with the above emphasis on the word “require” in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(e), the Attorney General has advised that mere inconvenience, delay, embarrassment, frustration, or even speculation as to the probability of success would be an insufficient basis to close a meeting. Gempeler Correspondence, February 12, 1979. Competitive or bargaining reasons permit a closed session where the discussion will directly and substantially affect negotiations with a third party, but not where the discussions might be one of several factors that indirectly influence the outcome of those negotiations. Henderson Correspondence, March 24, 1992. The meetings of a governmental body also may not be closed in a blanket manner merely because they may at times involve competitive or bargaining issues, but rather may only be closed on those occasions when the particular meeting is going to involve discussion which, if held in open session, would harm the competitive or bargaining interests at issue. I-04-09, September 28, 2009. Once a governmental body’s bargaining team has reached a tentative agreement, the discussion whether the body should ratify the agreement should be conducted in open session. 81 Op. Att’y Gen. 139, 141 (1994).

5. Conferring with legal counsel with respect to litigation.

The exemption in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(g) authorizes a closed session for “[c]onfering with legal counsel for the governmental body who is rendering oral or written advice concerning strategy to be adopted by the body with respect to litigation in which it is or is likely to become involved.”

The presence of the governmental body's legal counsel is not, in itself, sufficient reason to authorize closure under this exemption. The exemption applies only if the legal counsel is rendering advice on strategy to adopt for litigation in which the governmental body is or is likely to become involved.

There is no clear-cut standard for determining whether a governmental body is "likely" to become involved in litigation. Members of a governmental body should rely on the body's legal counsel for advice on whether litigation is sufficiently "likely" to authorize a closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(g).

6. Remaining exemptions.

The remaining exemptions in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) authorize closure for:

1. Considering applications for probation or parole, or considering strategy for crime detection or prevention. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(d).
2. Specified deliberations by the state council on unemployment insurance and the state council on worker's compensation. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(ee) and (eg).
3. Specified deliberations involving the location of a burial site. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(em).
4. Consideration of requests for confidential written advice from an ethics board. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(h).
5. Considering specified matters related to a business ceasing its operations or laying off employees. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(i).
6. Considering specified financial information relating to the support of a nonprofit corporation operating an ice rink owned by the state. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1)(j).⁵

D. Who May Attend A Closed Session.

A frequently asked question concerns who may attend the closed session meetings of a governmental body. In general, the open meetings law gives wide discretion to a governmental body to admit into a closed session anyone whose presence the body determines is necessary for the consideration of the matter that is the subject of the meeting. Schuh Correspondence, December 15, 1988. If the governmental body is a subunit of a parent body, the subunit must allow members of the parent body to attend its open session and closed session meetings, unless the rules of the parent body or subunit provide otherwise. Wis. Stat. § 19.89. Where enough non-members of a subunit attend the subunit's meetings that a quorum of the parent body is present, a meeting of the parent body occurs, and the notice requirements of Wis. Stat. § 19.84 apply. Badke, 173 Wis. 2d at 579.

E. Voting In An Authorized Closed Session.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has held that Wis. Stat. § 14.90 (1959), a predecessor to the current open meetings law, authorized a governmental body to vote in closed session on matters that were the legitimate subject of deliberation in closed session. Cities S. O. Co., 21 Wis. 2d at 538. The Court reasoned that "voting is an integral part of deliberating and merely formalizes the result reached in the deliberating process." Id. at 539.

In Schaeve, 125 Wis. 2d at 53, the Court of Appeals commented on the propriety of voting in closed session under the current open meetings law. The Court indicated that a governmental body must vote in open session unless an exemption in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) expressly authorizes voting in closed session. Id. The Court's statement was not essential to its holding and it is unclear whether the Supreme Court would adopt a similar interpretation of the current open meetings law.

⁵For more detailed information on these exemptions, consult the text of Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1), which appears in Appendix A.

Given this uncertainty, the Attorney General advises that a governmental body vote in open session, unless the vote is clearly an integral part of deliberations authorized to be conducted in closed session under Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1). Stated another way, a governmental body should vote in open session, unless doing so would compromise the need for the closed session. Accord, Epping, 218 Wis. 2d at 524 n.4 (even if deliberations were conducted in an unlawful closed session, a subsequent vote taken in open session could not be voided).

None of the exemptions in Wis. Stat. § 19.85(1) authorize a governmental body to consider in closed session the ratification or final approval of a collective bargaining agreement negotiated by or for the body. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(3); 81 Op. Att'y Gen. 139.

F. Reconvening In Open Session.

A governmental body may not commence a meeting, convene in closed session, and subsequently reconvene in open session within twelve hours after completion of a closed session, unless public notice of the subsequent open session is given "at the same time and in the same manner" as the public notice of the prior open session. Wis. Stat. § 19.85(2). The notice need not specify the time the governmental body expects to reconvene in open session if the body plans to reconvene immediately following the closed session. If the notice does specify the time, the body must wait until that time to reconvene in open session. When a governmental body reconvenes in open session following a closed session, the presiding officer has a duty to open the door of the meeting room and inform any members of the public present that the session is open. Claybaugh Correspondence, February 16, 2006.

V. WHO ENFORCES THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW AND WHAT ARE ITS PENALTIES?

A. Enforcement.

Both the Attorney General and the district attorneys have authority to enforce the open meetings law. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(1). In most cases, enforcement at the local level has the greatest chance of success due to the need for intensive factual investigation, the district attorneys' familiarity with the local rules of procedure, and the need to assemble witnesses and material evidence. 65 Op. Att'y Gen. Preface, ii. Under certain circumstances, the Attorney General may elect to prosecute complaints involving a matter of statewide concern.

A district attorney has authority to enforce the open meetings law only after an individual files a verified open meetings law complaint with the district attorney. See Wis. Stat. § 19.97(1). Actions to enforce the open meetings law need not be preceded by a notice of claim. State ex rel. Auchinleck v. Town of LaGrange, 200 Wis. 2d 585, 594-97, 547 N.W.2d 587 (1996). The verified complaint must be signed by the individual and notarized and should include available information that will be helpful to investigators, such as: identifying the governmental body and any members thereof alleged to have violated the law; describing the factual circumstances of the alleged violations; identifying witnesses with relevant evidence; and identifying any relevant documentary evidence.⁶ The district attorney has broad discretion to determine whether a verified complaint should be prosecuted. State v. Karpinski, 92 Wis. 2d 599, 607, 285 N.W.2d 729 (1979). An enforcement action brought by a district attorney or by the Attorney General must be commenced within 6 years after the cause of action accrues or be barred. See Wis. Stat. § 893.93(1)(a).

⁶A model complaint appears in Appendix B.

Proceedings to enforce the open meetings law are civil actions subject to the rules of civil procedure, rather than criminal procedure, and governed by the ordinary civil standard of proof, rather than a heightened standard of proof such as would apply in a criminal or quasi-criminal proceeding. Accordingly, enforcement of the open meetings law does not involve such practices as arrest, posting bond, entering criminal-type pleas, or any other aspects of criminal procedure. Rather, an open meetings law enforcement action is commenced like any civil action by filing and serving a summons and complaint. In addition, the open meetings law cannot be enforced by the issuance of a citation, in the way that other civil forfeitures are often enforced, because citation procedures are inconsistent with the statutorily-mandated verified complaint procedure. Zwiag Correspondence, March 10, 2005.

If the district attorney refuses to commence an open meetings law enforcement action or otherwise fails to act within twenty days of receiving a complaint, the individual who filed the complaint has a right to bring an action, in the name of the state, to enforce the open meetings law. Lawton, 278 Wis. 2d 388, ¶ 15. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(4). See also Fabyan v. Achtenhagen, 2002 WI App 214, ¶¶ 10-13, 257 Wis. 2d 310, 652 N.W.2d 649 (complaint under Wis. Stat. § 19.97 must be brought in the name of and on behalf of the state; i.e., the caption must bear the title “State ex rel. . .,” or the court lacks competency to proceed). Although an individual may not bring a private enforcement action prior to the expiration of the district attorney’s twenty-day review period, the district attorney may still commence an action even though more than twenty days have passed. It is not uncommon for the review and investigation of open meetings complaints to take longer than twenty days.

Court proceedings brought by private relators to enforce the open meetings law must be commenced within two years after the cause of action accrues, or the proceedings will be barred. Wis. Stat. § 893.93(2)(a); State ex rel. Leung v. City of Lake Geneva, 2003 WI App 129, ¶ 6, 265 Wis. 2d 674, 666 N.W.2d 104. If a private relator brings an enforcement action and prevails, the court is authorized to grant broad relief, including a declaration that the law was violated, civil forfeitures where appropriate, and the award of the actual and necessary costs of prosecution, including reasonable attorney fees. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(4). Attorney fees will be awarded under this provision where such an award will provide an incentive to other private parties to similarly vindicate the public’s rights to open government and will deter governmental bodies from skirting the open meetings law. Buswell, 301 Wis. 2d 178, ¶ 54.

B. Penalties.

Any member of a governmental body who “knowingly” attends a meeting held in violation of the open meetings law, or otherwise violates the law, is subject to a forfeiture of between $25 and $300 for each violation. Wis. Stat. § 19.96. Any forfeiture obtained in an action brought by the district attorney is awarded to the county. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(1). Any forfeiture obtained in an action brought by the Attorney General or a private citizen is awarded to the state. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(1), (2), and (4).

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has defined “knowingly” as not only positive knowledge of the illegality of a meeting, but also awareness of the high probability of the meeting’s illegality or conscious avoidance of awareness of the illegality. Swanson, 92 Wis. 2d at 319. The Court also held that knowledge is not required to impose forfeitures on an individual for violating the open meetings law by means other than attending a meeting held in violation of the law. Examples of “other violations” are failing to give the required public notice of a meeting or failing to follow the procedure for closing a session. Id. at 321.

A member of a governmental body who is charged with knowingly attending a meeting held in violation of the law may raise one of two defenses: (1) that the member made or voted in favor of a motion to prevent the violation or (2) that the member’s votes on all relevant motions prior to the violation were inconsistent with the cause of the violation. Wis. Stat. § 19.96.

A member who is charged with a violation other than knowingly attending a meeting held in violation of the law may be permitted to raise the additional statutory defense that the member did not act in his or her official capacity. In addition, in Swanson, 92 Wis. 2d at 319, and Hodge, 180 Wis. 2d at 80, the Supreme Court intimated that a member of a governmental body can avoid liability if he or she can factually prove that he or she relied, in good faith and in an open and unconcealed manner, on the advice of counsel whose statutory duties include the rendering of legal opinions as to the actions of the body. See State v. Tereschko, 2001 WI App 146, ¶¶ 9-10, 246 Wis. 2d 671, 630 N.W.2d 277 (unpublished opinion declining to find a knowing violation where school board members relied on the advice of counsel in going into closed session); State v. Davis, 63 Wis. 2d 75, 82, 216 N.W.2d 31 (1974) (interpreting Wis. Stat. § 946.13(1) (private interest in public contract)). Cf. Journal/Sentinel v. Shorewood School Bd., 186 Wis. 2d 443, 452-55, 521 N.W.2d 165 (Ct. App. 1994) (school board may not avoid duty to provide public records by delegating the creation and custody of the record to its attorneys).

A governmental body may not reimburse a member for a forfeiture incurred as a result of a violation of the law, unless the enforcement action involved a real issue as to the constitutionality of the open meetings law. 66 Op. Att’y Gen. 226 (1977). Although it is not required to do so, a governmental body may reimburse a member for his or her reasonable attorney fees in defending against an enforcement action and for any plaintiff’s attorney fees that the member is ordered to pay. The city attorney may represent city officials in open meetings law enforcement actions. 77 Op. Att’y Gen. 177, 180 (1988).

In addition to the forfeiture penalty, Wis. Stat. § 19.97(3) provides that a court may void any action taken at a meeting held in violation of the open meetings law if the court finds that the interest in enforcing the law outweighs any interest in maintaining the validity of the action. Thus, in Hodge, 180 Wis. 2d at 75-76, the Court voided the town board’s denial of a permit, taken after an unauthorized closed session deliberation about whether to grant or deny the permit. Cf. Epping, 218 Wis. 2d at 524 n.4 (arguably unlawful closed session deliberation does not provide basis for voiding subsequent open session vote); State ex rel. Ward v. Town of Nashville, 2001 WI App 224, ¶ 30, 247 Wis. 2d 988, 635 N.W.2d 26 (unpublished opinion declining to void an agreement made in open session, where the agreement was the product of three years of unlawfully closed meetings). A court may award any other appropriate legal or equitable relief, including declaratory and injunctive relief. Wis. Stat. § 19.97(2).

In enforcement actions seeking forfeitures, the provisions of the open meetings law must be narrowly construed due to the penal nature of forfeiture. In all other actions, the provisions of the law must be liberally construed to ensure the public’s right to “the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business.” Wis. Stat. § 19.81(1) and (4). Thus, it is advisable to prosecute forfeiture actions separately from actions seeking other types of relief under the open meetings law.

C. Interpretation by Attorney General.

In addition to the methods of enforcement discussed above, the Attorney General also has express statutory authority to respond to requests for advice from any person as to the applicability of the open meetings and public records laws. Wis. Stat. §§ 19.39 and 19.98. This differs from other areas of law, in which the Attorney General is only authorized to give legal opinions or advice to specified governmental officials and agencies. Because the Legislature has expressly authorized the Attorney General to interpret the open meetings law, the Supreme Court has acknowledged that the Attorney General's opinions in this area should be given substantial weight. BDADC, 312 Wis. 2d 84, ¶¶ 37, 44-45.

Citizens with questions about matters outside the scope of the open meetings and public records laws, should seek assistance from a private attorney. Citizens and public officials with questions about the open meetings law or the public records law are advised to first consult the applicable statutes, the corresponding discussions in this Compliance Guide and in the Department of Justice's Public Records Law Compliance Outline, court decisions, and prior Attorney General opinions and to confer with their own private or governmental attorneys. In the rare instances where a question cannot be resolved in this manner, a written request for advice may be made to the Wisconsin Department of Justice. In submitting such requests, it should be remembered that the Department of Justice cannot conduct factual investigations, resolve disputed issues of fact, or make definitive determinations on fact-specific issues. Any response will thus be based solely on the information provided.

APPENDIX A

OPEN MEETINGS LAW

Wis. Stat. §§ 19.81 - 19.98 (2007-08)

19.69 GENERAL DUTIES OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS

(4) NONAPPLICABILITY This section does not apply to any matching program established between the secretary of transportation and the commissioner of the federal social security administration pursuant to an agreement specified under s. 85.61 (2).

History: 1991 a. 39, 269; 1995 a. 27, 2003 a. 265.

19.71 Sale of names or addresses. An authority may not sell or rent a record containing an individual's name or address of residence, unless specifically authorized by state law. The collection of fees under s. 19.35 (3) is not a sale or rental under this section.

History: 1991 a. 39

19.77 Summary of case law and attorney general opinions. Annually, the attorney general shall summarize case law and attorney general opinions relating to due process and other legal issues involving the collection, maintenance, use, provision of access to, sharing or archiving of personally identifiable information by authorities. The attorney general shall provide the summary, at no charge, to interested persons.

History: 1991 a. 39.

19.80 Penalties. (2) EMPLOYEE DISCIPLINE. Any person employed by an authority who violates this subchapter may be discharged or suspended without pay.

(3) PENALTIES. (a) Any person who willfully collects, discloses or maintains personally identifiable information in violation of federal or state law may be required to forfeit not more than $500 for each violation.

(b) Any person who willfully requests or obtains personally identifiable information from an authority under false pretenses may be required to forfeit not more than $500 for each violation.

History: 1991 a. 39, 269.

SUBCHAPTER V

OPEN MEETINGS OF GOVERNMENTAL BODIES

19.81 Declaration of policy. (1) In recognition of the fact that a representative government of the American type is dependent upon an informed electorate, it is declared to be the policy of this state that the public is entitled to the fullest and most complete information regarding the affairs of government as is compatible with the conduct of governmental business.

(2) To implement and ensure the public policy herein expressed, all meetings of all state and local governmental bodies shall be publicly held in places reasonably accessible to members of the public and shall be open to all citizens at all times unless otherwise expressly provided by law.

(3) In conformance with article IV, section 10, of the constitution, which states that the doors of each house shall remain open, except when the public welfare requires secrecy, it is declared to be the intent of the legislature to comply to the fullest extent with this subchapter.

(4) This subchapter shall be liberally construed to achieve the purposes set forth in this section, and the rule that penal statutes must be strictly construed shall be limited to the enforcement of forfeitures and shall not otherwise apply to actions brought under this subchapter or to interpretations thereof.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1983 a. 192.

NOTE: The following annotations relate to s. 66.77, repealed by Chapter 426, laws of 1975.

Subsequent to the presentation of evidence by the taxpayer, a board of review's consideration of testimony by the village assessor at an executive session was contrary to the open meeting law. Although it was permissible for the board to convene a closed session for the purpose of deliberating after a quasi-judicial hearing, the proceedings did not constitute mere deliberations but were a continuation of the quasi-judicial hearing without the presence of or notice to the objecting taxpayer. Dolphin v. Butler Board of Review, 70 Wis. 2d 403, 234 N.W.2d 277 (1975).

The open meeting law is not applicable to the judicial commission. State ex rel Lynch v. Dancey, 71 Wis. 2d 287, 238 N.W.2d 81 (1976).

A regular open meeting, held subsequent to a closed meeting on another subject, does not constitute a reconvened open meeting when there was no prior open meeting on that day. 58 Atty. Gen. 41.

Consideration of a resolution is a formal action of an administrative or minor governing body and when taken in proper closed session, the resolution and result of the vote must be made available for public inspection, pursuant to 19.21, absent a specific showing that the public interest would be adversely affected. 60 Atty. Gen. 9.

Joint apprenticeship committees, appointed pursuant to Wis. Adm. Code provisions, are governmental bodies and subject to the requirements of the open meeting law. 63 Atty. Gen. 363.

Voting procedures employed by worker's compensation and unemployment advisory councils that utilized adjournment of public meeting for purposes of having members representing employers and members representing employees or workers to separately meet in closed caucuses and to vote as a block on reconvening was contrary to the open records law. 63 Atty. Gen. 414.

A governmental body can call closed sessions for proper purposes without giving notice to members of the news media who have filed written requests. 63 Atty. Gen. 470.

The meaning of "communication" is discussed with reference to giving the public and news media members adequate notice. 63 Atty. Gen. 509.

The posting in the governor's office of agenda of future investment board meetings is not sufficient communication to the public or the news media who have filed a written request for notice. 63 Atty. Gen. 549.

A county board may not utilize an unidentified paper ballot in voting to appoint a county highway commissioner, but may vote by ayes and nays or show of hands at an open session if some member does not require the vote to be taken in such manner that the vote of each member may be ascertained and recorded. 63 Atty. Gen. 569.

NOTE: The following annotations refer to ss. 19.81 to 19.98.

When the city of Milwaukee and a private non-profit festival organization incorporated the open meetings law into a contract, the contract allowed public enforcement of the contractual provisions concerning open meetings. Journal/Sentinel, Inc. v. Pleva, 155 Wis. 2d 704, 456 N.W.2d 359 (1990).

Sub. (2) requires that a meeting be held in a facility that gives reasonable public access, not total access. No person may be systematically excluded or arbitrarily refused admittance. State ex rel. Badke v. Greendale Village Bd. 173 Wis. 2d 553, 494 N.W.2d 408 (1993).

This subchapter is discussed. 65 Atty. Gen. preface.

Public notice requirements for meetings of a city district school board under this subchapter and s. 120.48, 1983 stats., are discussed. 66 Atty. Gen. 93.

A volunteer fire department organized as a nonprofit corporation under s. 213.05 is not subject to the open meeting law. 66 Atty. Gen. 113.

Anyone has the right to tape-record an open meeting of a governmental body provided the meeting is not thereby physically disrupted. 66 Atty. Gen. 318.

The open meeting law does not apply to a coroner's inquest. 67 Atty. Gen. 250.

The open meeting law does not apply if the common council hears a grievance under a collective bargaining agreement. 67 Atty. Gen. 276.

The application of the open meeting law to the duties of WERC is discussed. 68 Atty. Gen. 171.

A senate committee meeting was probably held in violation of the open meetings law although there was never any intention prior to the gathering to attempt to debate any matter of policy, to reach agreement on differences, to make any decisions on any bill or part thereof, to take any votes, or to resolve substantive differences. Quorum gatherings should be presumed to be in violation of the law, due to a quorum's ability to thereafter call, compose and control by vote a formal meeting of a governmental body. 71 Atty. Gen. 63.

Nonstock corporations created by statute as bodies politic clearly fall within the term "governmental body" as defined in the open meetings law and are subject to the provisions of the open meetings law. Nonstock corporations that were not created by the legislature or by rule, but were created by private citizens are not bodies politic and not governmental bodies. 73 Atty. Gen. 53.

A "quasi-governmental corporation" in sub. (1) includes private corporations that closely resemble governmental corporations in function, effect, or status. 80 Atty. Gen. 129.

Understanding Wisconsin's open meeting law. Harvey, WBB September 1980. Getting the Best of Both Worlds: Open Government and Economic Development. Westerberg. Wis. Law. Feb. 2009.

19.82 Definitions. As used in this subchapter:

(1) "Governmental body" means a state or local agency, board, commission, committee, council, department or public body corporate and politic created by constitution, statute, ordinance, rule or order; a governmental or quasi-governmental corporation except for the Bradley center sports and entertainment corporation; a local exposition district under subch. II of ch. 229; a long-term care district under s. 46.2895; or a formally constituted subunit of any of the foregoing, but excludes any such body or committee or subunit of such body which is formed for or meeting for the purpose of collective bargaining under subch. I, IV, V, or VI of ch. 111.

(2) "Meeting" means the convening of members of a governmental body for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body. If one-half or more of the members of a governmental body are present, the meeting is rebuttably presumed to be for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities, authority, power or duties delegated to or vested in the body. The term does not include any social or chance gathering or conference which is not intended to avoid this subchapter, any gathering of the members of a town board for the purpose specified in s. 60.50 (6), any gathering of the commissioners of a town sanitary district for the purpose specified in s. 60.77 (5) (k), or any gathering of the members of a drainage board created under s. 88.16, 1991 stats., or under s. 88.17, for a purpose specified in s. 88.065 (5) (a).

(3) "Open session" means a meeting which is held in a place reasonably accessible to members of the public and open to all citizens at all times. In the case of a state governmental body, it means a meeting which is held in a building and room thereof which enables access by persons with functional limitations, as defined in s. 101.13 (1).

History: 1975 c. 426; 1977 c. 364, 447; 1985 a. 26, 29, 332; 1987 a. 305, 1993 a. 215, 263, 456, 491; 1995 a. 27, 185; 1997 a. 79; 1999 a. 9; 2007 a. 20, 96; 2009 a. 28.

A "meeting" under sub. (2) was found although the governmental body was not empowered to exercise the final powers of its parent body. State v. Swanson, 92 Wis. 2d 310, 284 N.W.2d 655 (1979).

A "meeting" under sub. (2) was found when members met with a purpose to engage in government business and the number of members present was sufficient to determine the parent body's course of action regarding the proposal discussed. State ex rel. Newspapers v. Showers, 135 Wis. 2d 77, 398 N.W.2d 154 (1987).

The open meetings law is not meant to apply to single-member governmental bodies. Sub. (2) speaks of a meeting of the members, plural, implying there must be at least two members of a governmental body. Plourde v. Berends, 2006 WI App 147, 294 Wis. 2d 746, 720 N.W.2d 130, 05-2106.

A corporation is quasi-governmental if, based on the totality of circumstances, it resembles a governmental corporation in function, effect, or status, requiring a case-by-case analysis. Here, a primary consideration was that the body was funded exclusively by public tax dollars or interest thereon. Additionally, its office was located in the municipal building, it was listed on the city Web site, the city provided it with clerical support and office supplies, all its assets revert to the city if it ceases to exist, its books are open for city inspection, the mayor and another city official are directors, and it had no clients other than the city. State v. Beaver Dam Area Development Corporation, 2008 WI 90, 312 Wis. 2d 84, 752 N.W.2d 295, 06-0662.

A municipal public utility commission managing a city owned public electric utility is a governmental body under sub. (1). 65 Atty. Gen. 243.

A "private conference" under s. 118.22 (3), on nonrenewal of a teacher's contract is a "meeting" within s. 19.82 (2). 66 Atty. Gen. 211.

A private home may qualify as a meeting place under sub. (3). 67 Atty. Gen. 125. A telephone conference call involving members of governmental body is a "meeting" that must be reasonably accessible to the public and public notice must be given. 69 Atty. Gen. 143.

19.83 Meetings of governmental bodies. (1) Every meeting of a governmental body shall be preceded by public notice as provided in s. 19.84, and shall be held in open session. At any meeting of a governmental body, all discussion shall be held and all action of any kind, formal or informal, shall be initiated, deliberated upon and acted upon only in open session except as provided in s. 19.85.

(2) During a period of public comment under s. 19.84 (2), a governmental body may discuss any matter raised by the public.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1997 a. 123.

When a quorum of a governmental body attends the meeting of another governmental body when any one of the members is not also a member of the second body, the gathering is a "meeting," unless the gathering is social or by chance. State ex rel. Badke v. Greendale Village Board, 173 Wis. 2d 553, 494 N.W.2d 408 (1993).

19.84 Public notice. (1) Public notice of all meetings of a governmental body shall be given in the following manner:

(a) As required by any other statutes; and

(b) By communication from the chief presiding officer of a governmental body or such person's designee to the public, to those news media who have filed a written request for such notice, and to the official newspaper designated under ss. 985.04, 985.05 and 985.06 or, if none exists, to a news medium likely to give notice in the area.

(2) Every public notice of a meeting of a governmental body shall set forth the time, date, place and subject matter of the meeting, including that intended for consideration at any contemplated closed session, in such form as is reasonably likely to apprise members of the public and the news media thereof. The public notice of a meeting of a governmental body may provide for a period of public comment, during which the body may receive information from members of the public.

(3) Public notice of every meeting of a governmental body shall be given at least 24 hours prior to the commencement of such meeting unless for good cause such notice is impossible or impractical, in which case shorter notice may be given, but in no case may the notice be provided less than 2 hours in advance of the meeting.

(4) Separate public notice shall be given for each meeting of a governmental body at a time and date reasonably proximate to the time and date of the meeting.

(5) Departments and their subunits in any University of Wisconsin System institution or campus are exempt from the requirements of subs. (1) to (4) but shall provide meeting notice which is reasonably likely to apprise interested persons, and news media who have filed written requests for such notice.

(6) Notwithstanding the requirements of s. 19.83 and the requirements of this section, a governmental body which is a formally constituted subunit of a parent governmental body may conduct a meeting without public notice as required by this section during a lawful meeting of the parent governmental body, during a recess in such meeting or immediately after such meeting for the purpose of discussing or acting upon a matter which was the subject of that meeting of the parent governmental body. The presiding officer of the parent governmental body shall publicly announce the time, place and subject matter of the meeting of the subunit in advance at the meeting of the parent body.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1987 a. 305, 1993 a. 215; 1997 a. 123; 2007 a. 20.

There is no requirement in this section that the notice provided be exactly correct in every detail. State ex rel. Olson v. City of Baraboo Joint Review Board, 2002 WI App 64, 252 Wis. 2d 628, 643 N.W.2d 796, 01-0201.

Sub. (2) does not expressly require that the notice indicate whether a meeting will be purely deliberative or if action will be taken. The notice must alert the public of the importance of the meeting. Although a failure to expressly state whether action will be taken could be a violation, the importance of knowing whether a vote would be taken is diminished when no input from the audience is allowed or required. State ex rel. Olson v. City of Baraboo Joint Review Board, 2002 WI App 64, 252 Wis. 2d 628, 643 N.W.2d 796, 01-0201.

Sub. (2) sets forth a reasonableness standard for determining whether notice of a meeting is sufficient that strikes the proper balance between the public's right to information and the government's need to efficiently conduct its business. The standard requires taking into account the circumstances of the case, which includes analyzing such factors as the burden of providing more detailed notice, whether the subject is of particular public interest, and whether it involves non-routine action that the public would be unlikely to anticipate. Buswell v. Tomah Area School District, 2007 WI 71, 301 Wis. 2d 178, 732 N.W.2d 804, 05-2998.

Under sub. (1) (b), a written request for notice of meetings of a governmental body should be filed with the chief presiding officer or designee and a separate written request should be filed with each specific governmental body. 65 Atty. Gen. 166.

The method of giving notice pursuant to sub. (1) is discussed. 65 Atty. Gen. 250. The specificity of notice required by a governmental body is discussed. 66 Atty. Gen. 143, 195.

The requirements of notice given to newspapers under this section is discussed. 66 Atty. Gen. 230.

A town board, but not an annual town meeting, is a "governmental body" within the meaning of the open meetings law. 66 Atty. Gen. 237.

News media who have filed written requests for notices of public meetings cannot be charged fees by governmental bodies for communication of the notices. 77 Atty. Gen. 312.

A newspaper is not obligated to print a notice received under sub. (1) (b), nor is governmental body obligated to pay for publication. Martin v. Wray, 473 F. Supp. 1131 (1979).

19.85 Exemptions. (1) Any meeting of a governmental body, upon motion duly made and carried, may be convened in closed session under one or more of the exemptions provided in this section. The motion shall be carried by a majority vote in such manner that the vote of each member is ascertained and recorded in the minutes. No motion to convene in closed session may be adopted unless the chief presiding officer announces to those present at the meeting at which such motion is made, the nature of the business to be considered at such closed session, and the specific exemption or exemptions under this subsection by which such closed session is claimed to be authorized. Such announcement shall become part of the record of the meeting. No business may be taken up at any closed session except that which relates to matters contained in the chief presiding officer's announcement of the closed session. A closed session may be held for any of the following purposes:

19.85 GENERAL DUTIES OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS

(a) Deliberating concerning a case which was the subject of any judicial or quasi-judicial trial or hearing before that governmental body.

(b) Considering dismissal, demotion, licensing or discipline of any public employee or person licensed by a board or commission or the investigation of charges against such person, or considering the grant or denial of tenure for a university faculty member, and the taking of formal action on any such matter; provided that the faculty member or other public employee or person licensed is given actual notice of any evidentiary hearing which may be held prior to final action being taken and of any meeting at which final action may be taken. The notice shall contain a statement that the person has the right to demand that the evidentiary hearing or meeting be held in open session. This paragraph and par. (f) do not apply to any such evidentiary hearing or meeting where the employee or person licensed requests that an open session be held.

(c) Considering employment, promotion, compensation or performance evaluation data of any public employee over which the governmental body has jurisdiction or exercises responsibility.

(d) Except as provided in s. 304.06 (1) (eg) and by rule promulgated under s. 304.06 (1) (em), considering specific applications of probation, extended supervision or parole, or considering strategy for crime detection or prevention.

(e) Deliberating or negotiating the purchasing of public properties, the investing of public funds, or conducting other specified public business, whenever competitive or bargaining reasons require a closed session.

(ee) Deliberating by the council on unemployment insurance in a meeting at which all employer members of the council or all employee members of the council are excluded.

(eg) Deliberating by the council on worker's compensation in a meeting at which all employer members of the council or all employee members of the council are excluded.

(em) Deliberating under s. 157.70 if the location of a burial site, as defined in s. 157.70 (1) (b), is a subject of the deliberation and if discussing the location in public would be likely to result in disturbance of the burial site.

(f) Considering financial, medical, social or personal histories or disciplinary data of specific persons, preliminary consideration of specific personnel problems or the investigation of charges against specific persons except where par. (b) applies which, if discussed in public, would be likely to have a substantial adverse effect upon the reputation of any person referred to in such histories or data, or involved in such problems or investigations.

(g) Conferring with legal counsel for the governmental body who is rendering oral or written advice concerning strategy to be adopted by the body with respect to litigation in which it is or is likely to become involved.

(h) Consideration of requests for confidential written advice from the government accountability board under s. 5.05 (6a), or from any county or municipal ethics board under s. 19.59 (5).

(i) Considering any and all matters related to acts by businesses under s. 560.15 which, if discussed in public, could adversely affect the business, its employees or former employees.

(2) No governmental body may commence a meeting, subsequently convene in closed session and thereafter reconvene again in open session within 12 hours after completion of the closed session, unless public notice of such subsequent open session was given at the same time and in the same manner as the public notice of the meeting convened prior to the closed session.

(3) Nothing in this subchapter shall be construed to authorize a governmental body to consider at a meeting in closed session the final ratification or approval of a collective bargaining agreement under subch. I, IV, V, or VI of ch. 111 which has been negotiated by such body or on its behalf.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1977 c. 260; 1983 a. 84; 1985 a. 316; 1987 a. 38, 305; 1989 a. 64, 1991 a. 39; 1993 a. 97, 215; 1995 a. 27; 1997 a. 39, 237, 283; 1999 a. 32; 2007 a. 1, 20; 2009 a. 28.

Although a meeting was properly closed, in order to refuse inspection of records of the meeting, the custodian was required by s. 19.35 (1) (a) to state specific and sufficient public policy reasons why the public interest in nondisclosure outweighed the public's right of inspection. Oshkosh Northwestern Co. v. Oshkosh Library Board, 125 Wis. 2d 480, 373 N.W.2d 459 (Ct. App. 1985).

The balance between protection of reputation under sub. (1) (f) and the public interest in openness is discussed. Wis. State Journal v. UW-Platteville, 160 Wis. 2d 31, 465 N.W.2d 266 (Ct. App. 1990). See also Pangman v. Stigler, 161 Wis. 2d 828, 468 N.W.2d 784 (Ct. App. 1991).

A "case" under sub. (1) (a) contemplates an adversarial proceeding. It does not connote the mere application for and granting of a permit. Hodge v. Turtle Lake, 180 Wis. 2d 62, 508 N.W.2d 603 (1993).

A closed session to discuss an employee's dismissal was properly held under sub. (1) (b) and did not require notice to the employee under sub. (1) (c) when no evidentiary hearing or final action took place in the closed session. State ex rel. Epping v. City of Neilsville, 218 Wis. 2d 516, 581 N.W.2d 488 (Ct. App. 1998), 97-0403.

The exception under sub. (1) (e) must be strictly construed. A private entity's desire for confidentiality does not permit a closed meeting. A governing body's belief that secret meetings will produce cost savings does not justify closing the door to public scrutiny. Providing contingencies allowing for future public input was insufficient. Because legitimate concerns were present for portions of some of the meetings does not mean the entirety of the meetings fell within the narrow exception under sub. (1) (e). Citizens for Responsible Development v. City of Milton, 2007 WI App 114, 300 Wis. 2d 649, 731 N.W.2d 640, 06-0427.

Section 19.35 (1) (a) does not mandate that, when a meeting is closed under this section, all records created for or presented at the meeting are exempt from disclosure. The court must still apply the balancing test articulated in Linzmeier, 2002 WI 84, 254 Wis. 2d 306. Zellner v. Cedarburg School District, 2007 WI 53, 300 Wis. 2d 290, 731 N.W.2d 240, 06-1143.

Nothing in sub. (1) (e) suggests that a reason for going into closed session must be shared by each municipality participating in an intergovernmental body. It is not inconsistent with the open meetings law for a body to move into closed session under sub. (1) (e) when the bargaining position to be protected is not shared by every member of the body. Once a vote passes to go into closed session, the reason for requesting the vote becomes the reason of the entire body. Herro v. Village of McFarland, 2007 WI App 172, 303 Wis. 2d 749, 737 N.W.2d 55, 06-1929.

In allowing governmental bodies to conduct closed sessions in limited circumstances, this section does not create a blanket privilege shielding closed session contents from discovery. There is no implicit or explicit confidentiality mandate. A closed meeting is not synonymous with a meeting that, by definition, entails a privilege exempting its contents from discovery. Sands v. The Whitnall School District, 2008 WI 89, 312 Wis. 2d 1, 754 N.W.2d 439, 05-1026.

Boards of review cannot rely on the exemptions in sub. (1) to close any meeting in view of the explicit requirements in s. 70.47 (2m). 65 Atty. Gen. 162.

A university subunit may discuss promotions not relating to tenure, merit increases, and property purchase recommendations in closed session. 66 Atty. Gen. 60.

Neither sub. (1) (e) nor (f) authorizes a school board to make actual appointments of a new member in closed session. 74 Atty. Gen. 70.

A county board chairperson and committee are not authorized by sub. (1) (c) to meet in closed session to discuss appointments to county board committees. In appropriate circumstances, sub. (1) (f) would authorize closed sessions. 76 Atty. Gen. 276.

Sub. (1) (c) does not permit closed sessions to consider employment, compensation, promotion, or performance evaluation policies to be applied to a position of employment in general. 80 Atty. Gen. 176.

A governmental body may convene in closed session to formulate collective bargaining strategy, but sub. (3) requires that deliberations leading to ratification of a tentative agreement with a bargaining unit, as well as the ratification vote, must be held in open session. 81 Atty. Gen. 139.

"Evidentiary hearing" as used in s. 19.85 (1) (b), means a formal examination of accusations by receiving testimony or other forms of evidence that may be relevant to the dismissal, demotion, licensing, or discipline of any public employee or person covered by that section. A council that considered a mayor's accusations against an employee in closed session without giving the employee prior notice violated the requirement of actual notice to the employee. Campana v. City of Greenfield, 38 F. Supp. 2d 1043 (1999).

Closed Session, Open Book: Sifting the Sands Case. Bach. Wis. Law Oct. 2009.

19.851 Closed sessions by government accountability board. The government accountability board shall hold each meeting of the board for the purpose of deliberating concerning an investigation of any violation of the law under the jurisdiction of the ethics and accountability division of the board in closed session under this section. Prior to convening under this section, the government accountability board shall vote to convene in closed session in the manner provided in s. 19.85 (1). No business may be conducted by the government accountability board at any closed session under this section except that which relates to the purposes of the session as authorized in this section or as authorized in s. 19.85 (1).

History: 2007 a. 1.

19.86 Notice of collective bargaining negotiations. Notwithstanding s. 19.82 (1), where notice has been given by either party to a collective bargaining agreement under subch. I, IV, V, or VI of ch. 111 to reopen such agreement at its expiration date, the employer shall give notice of such contract reopening as provided in s. 19.84 (1) (b). If the employer is not a governmental body, notice shall be given by the employer's chief officer or such person's designee.

History: 1975 c. 426, 1987 a. 305; 1993 a. 215; 1995 a. 27; 2007 a. 20; 2009 a. 28.

19.87 Legislative meetings. This subchapter shall apply to all meetings of the senate and assembly and the committees, subcommittees and other subunits thereof, except that:

(1) Section 19.84 shall not apply to any meeting of the legislature or a subunit thereof called solely for the purpose of scheduling business before the legislative body; or adopting resolutions of which the sole purpose is scheduling business before the senate or the assembly.

(2) No provision of this subchapter which conflicts with a rule of the senate or assembly or joint rule of the legislature shall apply to a meeting conducted in compliance with such rule.

(3) No provision of this subchapter shall apply to any partisan caucus of the senate or any partisan caucus of the assembly, except as provided by legislative rule.

(4) Meetings of the senate or assembly committee on organization under s. 71.78 (4) (c) or 77.61 (5) (b) 3. shall be closed to the public.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1977 c. 418; 1987 a. 312 s. 17.

Sub. (3) applied to a closed meeting of the members of one political party on a legislative committee to discuss a bill. State ex rel. Lynch v. Conta, 71 Wis. 2d 662, 239 N.W.2d 313 (1976).

19.88 Ballots, votes and records. (1) Unless otherwise specifically provided by statute, no secret ballot may be utilized to determine any election or other decision of a governmental body except the election of the officers of such body in any meeting.

(2) Except as provided in sub. (1) in the case of officers, any member of a governmental body may require that a vote be taken at any meeting in such manner that the vote of each member is ascertained and recorded.

(3) The motions and roll call votes of each meeting of a governmental body shall be recorded, preserved and open to public inspection to the extent prescribed in subch. II of ch. 19.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1981 c. 335 s. 26.

Under sub. (1), a common council may not vote to fill a vacancy on the common council by secret ballot. 65 Atty. Gen. 131.

19.89 Exclusion of members. No duly elected or appointed member of a governmental body may be excluded from any meeting of such body. Unless the rules of a governmental body provide to the contrary, no member of the body may be excluded from any meeting of a subunit of that governmental body.

History: 1975 c. 426.

19.90 Use of equipment in open session. Whenever a governmental body holds a meeting in open session, the body shall make a reasonable effort to accommodate any person desiring to record, film or photograph the meeting. This section does not permit recording, filming or photographing such a meeting in a manner that interferes with the conduct of the meeting or the rights of the participants.

History: 1977 c. 322.

19.96 Penalty. Any member of a governmental body who knowingly attends a meeting of such body held in violation of this subchapter, or who, in his or her official capacity, otherwise violates this subchapter by some act or omission shall forfeit without reimbursement not less than $25 nor more than $300 for each such violation. No member of a governmental body is liable under this subchapter on account of his or her attendance at a meeting held in violation of this subchapter if he or she makes or votes in favor of a motion to prevent the violation from occurring, or if, before the violation occurs, his or her votes on all relevant motions were inconsistent with all those circumstances which cause the violation.

History: 1975 c. 426.

The state need not prove specific intent to violate the Open Meetings Law. State v. Swanson, 92 Wis. 2d 310, 284 N.W.2d 655 (1979).

19.97 Enforcement. (1) This subchapter shall be enforced in the name and on behalf of the state by the attorney general or, upon the verified complaint of any person, by the district attorney of any county wherein a violation may occur. In actions brought by the attorney general, the court shall award any forfeiture recovered together with reasonable costs to the state; and in actions brought by the district attorney, the court shall award any forfeiture recovered together with reasonable costs to the county.

(2) In addition and supplementary to the remedy provided in s. 19.96, the attorney general or the district attorney may commence an action, separately or in conjunction with an action brought under s. 19.96, to obtain such other legal or equitable relief, including but not limited to mandamus, injunction or declaratory judgment, as may be appropriate under the circumstances.

(3) Any action taken at a meeting of a governmental body held in violation of this subchapter is voidable, upon action brought by the attorney general or the district attorney of the county wherein the violation occurred. However, any judgment declaring such action void shall not be entered unless the court finds, under the facts of the particular case, that the public interest in the enforcement of this subchapter outweighs any public interest which there may be in sustaining the validity of the action taken.

(4) If the district attorney refuses or otherwise fails to commence an action to enforce this subchapter within 20 days after receiving a verified complaint, the person making such complaint may bring an action under subs. (1) to (3) on his or her relation in the name, and on behalf, of the state. In such actions, the court may award actual and necessary costs of prosecution, including reasonable attorney fees to the relator if he or she prevails, but any forfeiture recovered shall be paid to the state.

(5) Sections 893.80 and 893.82 do not apply to actions commenced under this section.

History: 1975 c. 426; 1981 c. 289; 1995 a. 158

Judicial Council Note, 1981: Reference in sub. (2) to a "writ" of mandamus has been removed because that remedy is now available in an ordinary action. See s. 781.01, stats., and the note thereto. [Bill 613-A]

Awards of attorney fees are to be at a rate applicable to private attorneys. A court may review the reasonableness of the hours and hourly rate charged, including the rates for similar services in the area, and may in addition consider the peculiar facts of the case and the responsible party's ability to pay. Hodge v. Town of Turtle Lake, 190 Wis. 2d 181, 526 N.W.2d 784 (Ct. App. 1994).

Actions brought under the open meetings and open records laws are exempt from the notice provisions of s. 893.80 (1). Auchinleck v. Town of LaGrange, 200 Wis. 2d 585, 547 N.W.2d 587 (1996), 94-2809.

Failure to bring an action under this section on behalf of the state is fatal and deprives the court of competency to proceed. Fabyan v. Achtenhagen, 2002 WI App 214, 257 Wis. 2d 310, 652 N.W.2d 649, 01-3298.

Complaints under the open meetings law are not brought in the individual capacity of the plaintiff but on behalf of the state, subject to the 2-year statute of limitations under s. 893.93 (2). Leung v. City of Lake Geneva, 2003 WI App 129, 265 Wis. 2d 674, 666 N.W.2d 104, 02-2747.

When a town board's action was voided by the court due to lack of statutory authority, an action for enforcement under sub. (4) by an individual as a private attorney general on behalf of the state against individual board members for a violation of the open meetings law that would subject the individual board members to civil forfeitures was not rendered moot. Lawton v. Town of Barton, 2005 WI App 16, 278 Wis. 2d 388, 692 N.W.2d 304, 04-0659

19.98 Interpretation by attorney general. Any person may request advice from the attorney general as to the applicability of this subchapter under any circumstances.

History: 1975 c. 426.

APPENDIX B

SAMPLE OPEN MEETINGS LAW COMPLAINT FORM

VERIFIED OPEN MEETINGS LAW COMPLAINT

Now comes the complainant _____ and as and for a verified complaint pursuant to Wis. Stat. §§ 19.96 and 19.97, alleges and complains as follows:

1. That he is a resident of the _____ [town, village, city] of _____, Wisconsin, and that his or her Post Office Address is _____ [street, avenue, etc.] _____, Wisconsin _____ [zip].

2. That _____ [name of member or chief presiding officer] whose Post Office Address is _____ [street, avenue, etc.], _____ [city], Wisconsin, was on the _____ day of _____ 200_, a _____ [member or chief presiding officer] of _____ designate official title of governmental body] and that such _____ [board, council, commission or committee] is a governmental body within the meaning of Wis. Stat. § 19.82(1).

3. That _____ [name of member or chief presiding officer] on the _____ day of _____, 200_, at _____ County of _____, Wisconsin, knowingly attended a meeting of said governmental body held in violation of Wis. Stat. § 19.96 and _____ [cite other applicable section(s)], or otherwise violated those sections in that [set out every act or omission constituting the offense charged]:

4. That _____ [name of member or chief presiding officer] is thereby subject to the penalties prescribed in Wis. Stat. § 19.96.

5. That the following witnesses can testify to said acts or omissions:

Name	Address	Telephone
_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____

6. That the following documentary evidence of said acts or omissions is available:

7. That this complaint is made to the District Attorney for _____ County under the provisions of Wis. Stat. § 19.97, and that the district attorney may bring an action to recover the forfeiture provided in Wis. Stat. § 19.96.

WHEREFORE, complainant prays that the District Attorney for _____ County, Wisconsin, timely institute an action against _____ [name of member or chief presiding officer] to recover the forfeiture provided in Wis. Stat. § 19.96, together with reasonable costs and disbursements as provided by law.

STATE OF WISCONSIN)
) ss.
COUNTY OF _____)

_____ being first duly sworn on oath deposes and says that ___he is the above-named complainant, that ___he has read the foregoing complaint and that, based on his or her knowledge, the contents of the complaint are true.

COMPLAINANT

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ____ day of _____, 200_.

Notary Public, State of Wisconsin
My Commission: _____

REFERENCE MATERIALS: CASES, OPINIONS, CORRESPONDENCE, AND STATUTES CITED

CASES CITED

- State ex rel. Cities S. O. Co. v. Bd. of Appeals*,
21 Wis. 2d 516, 124 N.W.2d 809 (1963)
- State v. Davis*,
63 Wis. 2d 75, 216 N.W.2d 31 (1974)
- State ex rel. Lynch v. Dancey*,
71 Wis. 2d 287, 238 N.W.2d 81 (1976)
- State ex rel. Lynch v. Conta*,
71 Wis. 2d 662, 239 N.W.2d 313 (1976)
- State v. Swanson*,
92 Wis. 2d 310, 284 N.W.2d 655 (1979)
- State v. Karpinski*,
92 Wis. 2d 599, 285 N.W.2d 729 (1979)
- State ex rel. Schaeve v. Van Lare*,
125 Wis. 2d 40, 370 N.W.2d 271
(Ct. App. 1985)
- Oshkosh Northwestern Co. v. Oshkosh Library Bd.*,
125 Wis. 2d 480, 373 N.W.2d 459
(Ct. App. 1985)
- State ex rel. Newspapers v. Showers*,
135 Wis. 2d 77, 398 N.W.2d 154 (1987)
- Paulton v. Volkmann*,
141 Wis. 2d 370, 415 N.W.2d 528
(Ct. App. 1987)
- Wis. State Journal v. U.W. Platteville*,
160 Wis. 2d 31, 465 N.W.2d 266
(Ct. App. 1990)
- St. ex rel. Badke v. Greendale Village Bd.*,
173 Wis. 2d 553, 494 N.W.2d 408 (1993)
- State ex rel. Hodge v. Turtle Lake*,
180 Wis. 2d 62, 508 N.W.2d 603 (1993)
- Journal/Sentinel v. Shorewood School Bd.*,
186 Wis. 2d 443, 521 N.W.2d 165
(Ct. App. 1994)
- State ex rel. Auchinleck v. Town of LaGrange*,
200 Wis. 2d 585, 547 N.W.2d 587 (1996)
- State ex rel. Epping v. City of Neillsville*,
218 Wis. 2d 516, 581 N.W.2d 548
(Ct. App. 1998)
- State ex rel. H.D. Ent. v. City of Stoughton*,
230 Wis. 2d 480, 602 N.W.2d 72
(Ct. App. 1999)
- State v. Tereschko*,
2001 WI App 146, 246 Wis. 2d 671,
630 N.W.2d 277 (unpublished)
- State ex rel. Ward v. Town of Nashville*,
2001 WI App 224, 247 Wis. 2d 988,
635 N.W.2d 26 (unpublished)
- State ex rel. Olson v. City of Baraboo*,
2002 WI App 64, 252 Wis. 2d 628,
643 N.W.2d 796
- Fabyan v. Achtenhagen*,
2002 WI App 214, 257 Wis. 2d 310,
652 N.W.2d 649
- State ex rel. Leung v. City of Lake Geneva*,
2003 WI App 129, 265 Wis. 2d 674,
666 N.W.2d 104
- State ex rel. Lawton v. Town of Barton*,
2005 WI App 16, 278 Wis. 2d 388,
692 N.W.2d 304
- Plourde v. Habegger*,
2006 WI App 147, 294 Wis. 2d 746,
720 N.W.2d 130
- State ex rel. Citizens for Responsible Development v. City of Milton*,
2007 WI App 114, 300 Wis. 2d 649,
731 N.W.2d 640
- State ex rel. Buswell v. Tomah Area Sch. Dist.*, 2007 WI 71, 301 Wis. 2d 178,
732 N.W.2d 804
- State ex rel. Herro v. Village of McFarland*,
2007 WI App 172, 303 Wis. 2d 749,
737 N.W.2d 55
- State v. Beaver Dam Area Dev. Corp.*,
2008 WI 90, 312 Wis. 2d 84, 752 N.W.2d 295

FORMAL ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS CITED

OAG 67-79 (July 31, 1979)*	73 Op. Att’y Gen. 53 (1984)
57 Op. Att’y Gen. 213 (1968)	74 Op. Att’y Gen. 38 (1985)
63 Op. Att’y Gen. 509 (1974)	74 Op. Att’y Gen. 70 (1985)
65 Op. Att’y Gen. Preface (1976)	76 Op. Att’y Gen. 276 (1987)
65 Op. Att’y Gen. 131 (1976)	77 Op. Att’y Gen. 177 (1988)
65 Op. Att’y Gen. 243 (1976)	77 Op. Att’y Gen. 312 (1988)
65 Op. Att’y Gen. 250 (1976)	78 Op. Att’y Gen. 67 (1989)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 60 (1977)	80 Op. Att’y Gen. 129 (1991)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 68 (1977)	80 Op. Att’y Gen. 176 (1992)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 93 (1977)	81 Op. Att’y Gen. 139 (1994)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 106 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 113 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 211 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 226 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 230 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 237 (1977)
66 Op. Att’y Gen. 318 (1977)
67 Op. Att’y Gen. 117 (1978)
67 Op. Att’y Gen. 125 (1978)
67 Op. Att’y Gen. 250 (1978)
68 Op. Att’y Gen. 171 (1979)
69 Op. Att’y Gen. 143 (1980)
69 Op. Att’y Gen. 251 (1980)

*Unpublished opinion

INFORMAL ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS CITED

I-20-89 (March 8, 1989)

I-29-91 (October 17, 1991)

I-95-89 (November 13, 1989)

I-05-93 (April 26, 1993)

I-22-90 (April 4, 1990)

I-10-93 (October 15, 1993)

I-34-90 (May 25, 1990)

I-02-09 (March 19, 2009)

I-04-09 (September 28, 2009)

I-05-09 (December 17, 2009)

I-01-10 (January 25, 2010)

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE CORRESPONDENCE CITED

Miller Correspondence, May 25, 1977	Rappert Correspondence, April 8, 1993
Snow Correspondence, June 15, 1977	Peplnjak Correspondence, June 8, 1998
Heule Correspondence, June 29, 1977	Godlewski Correspondence, September 24, 1998
Gempeler Correspondence, February 12, 1979	Constantine Correspondence, February 28, 2000
Clifford Correspondence, December 2, 1980	Krischan Correspondence, October 3, 2000
Staples Correspondence, February 10, 1981	Schuh Correspondence, October 17, 2001
Caturia Correspondence, September 20, 1982	Friedman Correspondence, March 4, 2003
Funkhouser Correspondence, March 17, 1983	Haro Correspondence, June 13, 2003
Gaylord Correspondence, June 11, 1984	Reynolds/Kreibich Correspondence, October 23, 2003
Clifford Correspondence, April 28, 1986	Jacques Correspondence, January 26, 2004
Bukowski Correspondence, May 5, 1986	Rude Correspondence, March 5, 2004
DuVall Correspondence, November 6, 1986	Benson Correspondence, March 12, 2004
Geyer Correspondence, February 26, 1987	Thompson Correspondence, September 3, 2004
Schuh Correspondence, December 15, 1988	Becker Correspondence, November 30, 2004
Henderson Correspondence, March 24, 1992	O'Connell Correspondence, December 21, 2004
Merkel Correspondence, March 11, 1993	Zwieg Correspondence, March 10, 2005

Boyle Correspondence, May 4, 2005	Anderson Correspondence, February 13, 2007
Perlick Correspondence, May 12, 2005	Kay Correspondence, April 25, 2007
Tylka Correspondence, June 8, 2005	Linde Correspondence, May 4, 2007
Lichstein Correspondence, September 20, 2005	Koss Correspondence, May 30, 2007
Lundquist Correspondence, October 25, 2005	Wirth and Lamoreaux Correspondence, May 30, 2007
Brisco Correspondence, December 13, 2005	Kittleson Correspondence, June 13, 2007
Katayama Correspondence, January 20, 2006	Musolf Correspondence, July 13, 2007
Claybaugh Correspondence, February 16, 2006	Eckert Correspondence, July 25, 2007
Kowalczyk Correspondence, March 13, 2006	Dieck Correspondence, September 12, 2007
Peck Correspondence, April 17, 2006	Caylor Correspondence, December 6, 2007
Zwieg Correspondence, July 13, 2006	Huff Correspondence, January 15, 2008
Heupel Correspondence, August 29, 2006	Stencil Correspondence, March 6, 2008
Kosobucki Correspondence, September 6, 2006	Stalle Correspondence, April 10, 2008
Chiaverotti Correspondence, September 19, 2006	Huebscher Correspondence, May 23, 2008
Maroney Correspondence, October 31, 2006	Herbst Correspondence, July 16, 2008
Dziki Correspondence, December 12, 2006	Karstens Correspondence, July 31, 2008
Weinschenk Correspondence, December 29, 2006	Johnson Correspondence, February 27, 2009

Martinson Correspondence,
March 2, 2009

Skindrud Correspondence,
March 12, 2009

Black Correspondence,
April 22, 2009

Erickson Correspondence,
April 22, 2009

White Correspondence,
May 1, 2009

Penkalski Correspondence,
May 4, 2009

Connors/Haag Correspondence,
May 26, 2009

De Moya Correspondence,
June 17, 2009

STATUTES CITED
(OTHER THAN THE OPEN MEETINGS LAW, WIS. STAT. CH. 19, SUBCH. V)

Wis. Stat. ch. 111	Wis. Stat. § 893.93(1)(a)
Wis. Stat. ch. 181	Wis. Stat. § 893.93(2)(a)
Wis. Stat. § 14.90 (1959)	Wis. Stat. § 946.13(1)
Wis. Stat. § 19.39	Wis. Stat. § 990.001(4)(a)
Wis. Stat. § 32.08
Wis. Stat. §§ 33.21 to 33.27
Wis. Stat. § 59.071
Wis. Stat. § 59.23(2)(a)
Wis. Stat. § 59.694(1)
Wis. Stat. § 59.694(3)
Wis. Stat. § 59.99(3) (1983)
Wis. Stat. § 60.33(2)(a)
Wis. Stat. § 60.65(5)
Wis. Stat. § 61.25(3)
Wis. Stat. § 62.09(11)(b)
Wis. Stat. § 62.13(5)(i)
Wis. Stat. § 62.23(7)(e)3.
Wis. Stat. § 65.90(4)
Wis. Stat. § 66.46(4)(a)
Wis. Stat. § 66.77(1) (1973)
Wis. Stat. § 66.100(4)(b)
Wis. Stat. § 70.47(2m)
Wis. Stat. § 70.47(7)(bb)
Wis. Stat. § 101.13(1)	